It's Your Game—Roll!!!

You are now playing the game of life—living, learning, being there, not being there, being yourself, being someone else. You are an element in this fast-paced challenging game. Roll through the many pages of 1984-85. Without one piece, the game is not worth setting up.

Go ahead . . .

With every move that you make, with every breath that you take, with every decision you trust, with every "I gotta" or "I must"—you are making your moves.

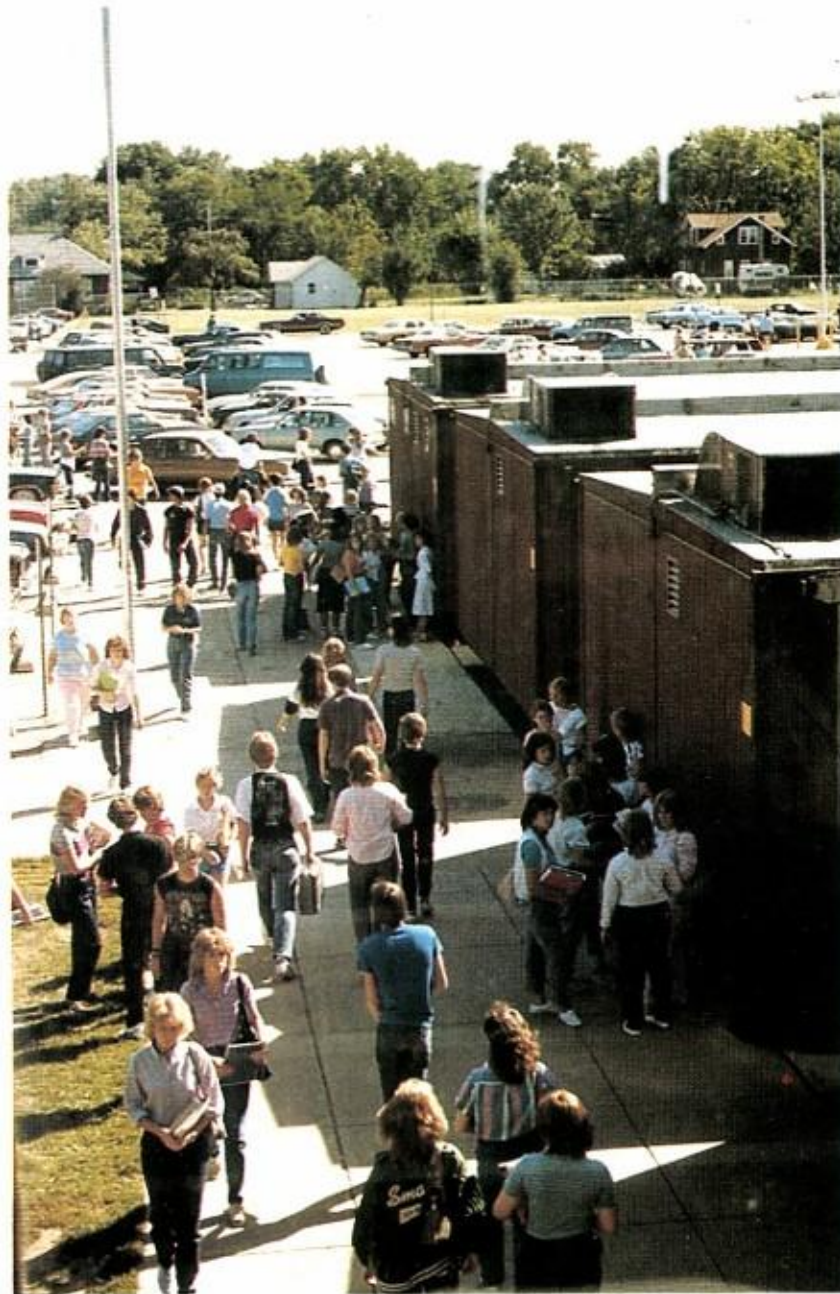

It's Your Move

Movin' with the Changes

With every school year, with every season—with everyone—there comes a change. Changes happen whether we like them or not, whether we want them or not. As sure as the green trees turn hot red and burnt orange in the Fall, the changes in our lives make us realize nothing is stagnant. Realizations such as "who am I," "who are they," and "what are we doing," somehow became clear. Reaching out to those we felt so close to and even trying to touch those we seemed to miss in the shuffle, we all felt the changes.

It's your move.

FAR LEFT. Adding a sexy style to the Homecoming version of "Electricity," is Karin Lawrence, cheerleader captain, whose own "electricity" sparks smiles.

CENTER. Though they seem relieved, graduated seniors Chris Smith, Brian Kleckner and Tom Wodek wonder what's ahead of them now and wonder if they'll ever look back.

FAR TOP. Devilettes, like Stephanie Shively, who had constant smiles, fun times and low knee drops on the gym floor or muddy fields, were highlights of halftimes.

ABOVE RIGHT. "Here we are!" sighed many Warren students. Realizing many changes had taken place, they knew each year of high school would never be the same.

Magnified Moves

One moved with the changes to stay "in." Fads flourished in 1985—anywhere from plastic punk to popular penny-loafer prep, from wild new wave to just comfortable jock. You established your own fad. Many stuck to one; others played around with many. Questions of relationships were asked of all—should a girl ask the guy out? Groups were still popular; fitting ten in a car was a struggle, but the fun was intense. Some of you were looked down upon due to your different ideas, values, feelings, but you were what you wanted to be.

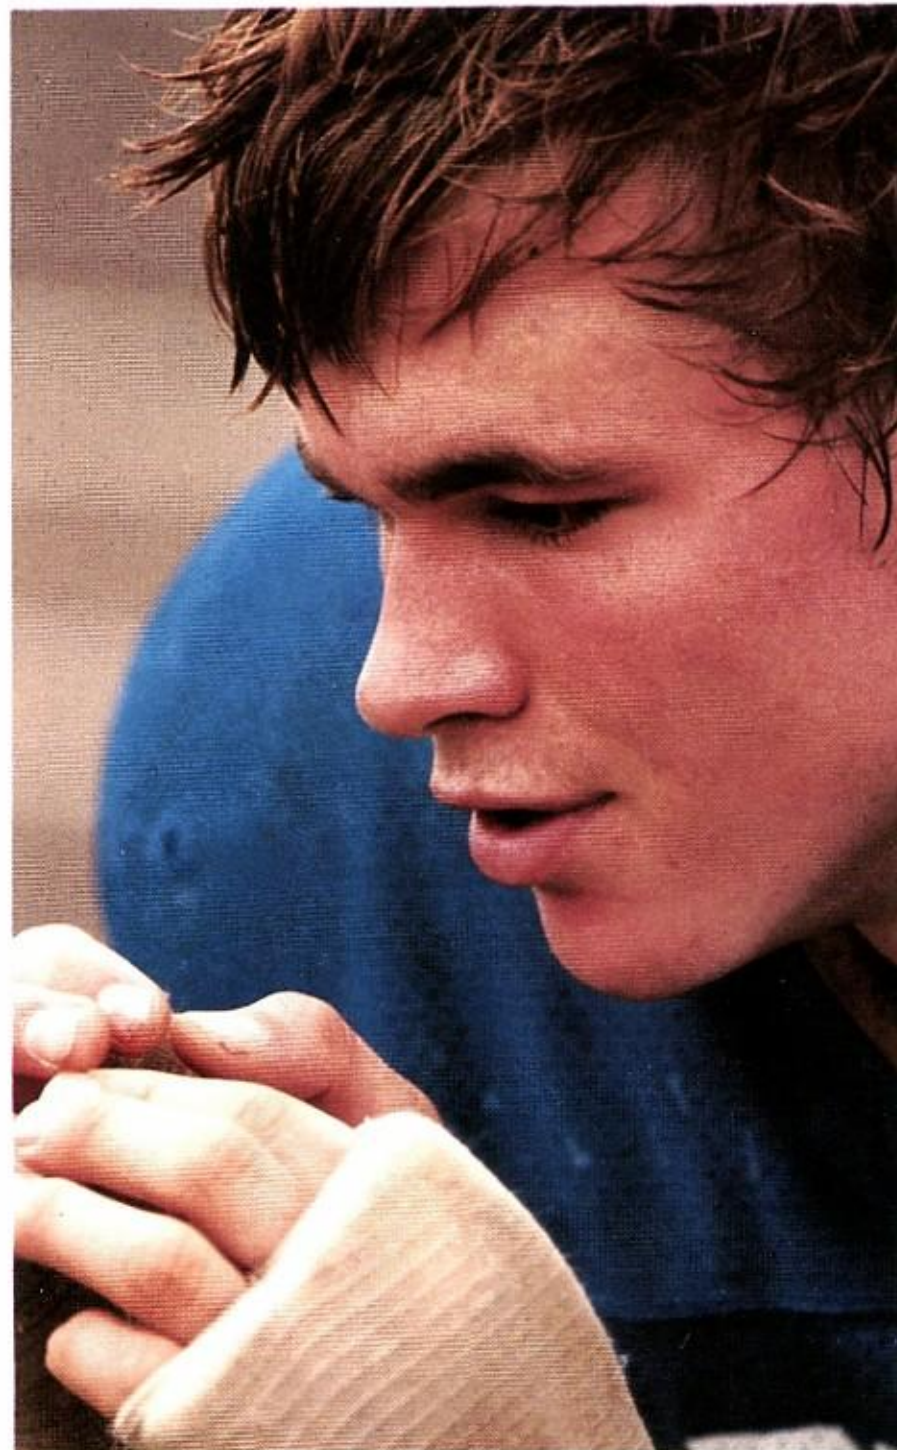

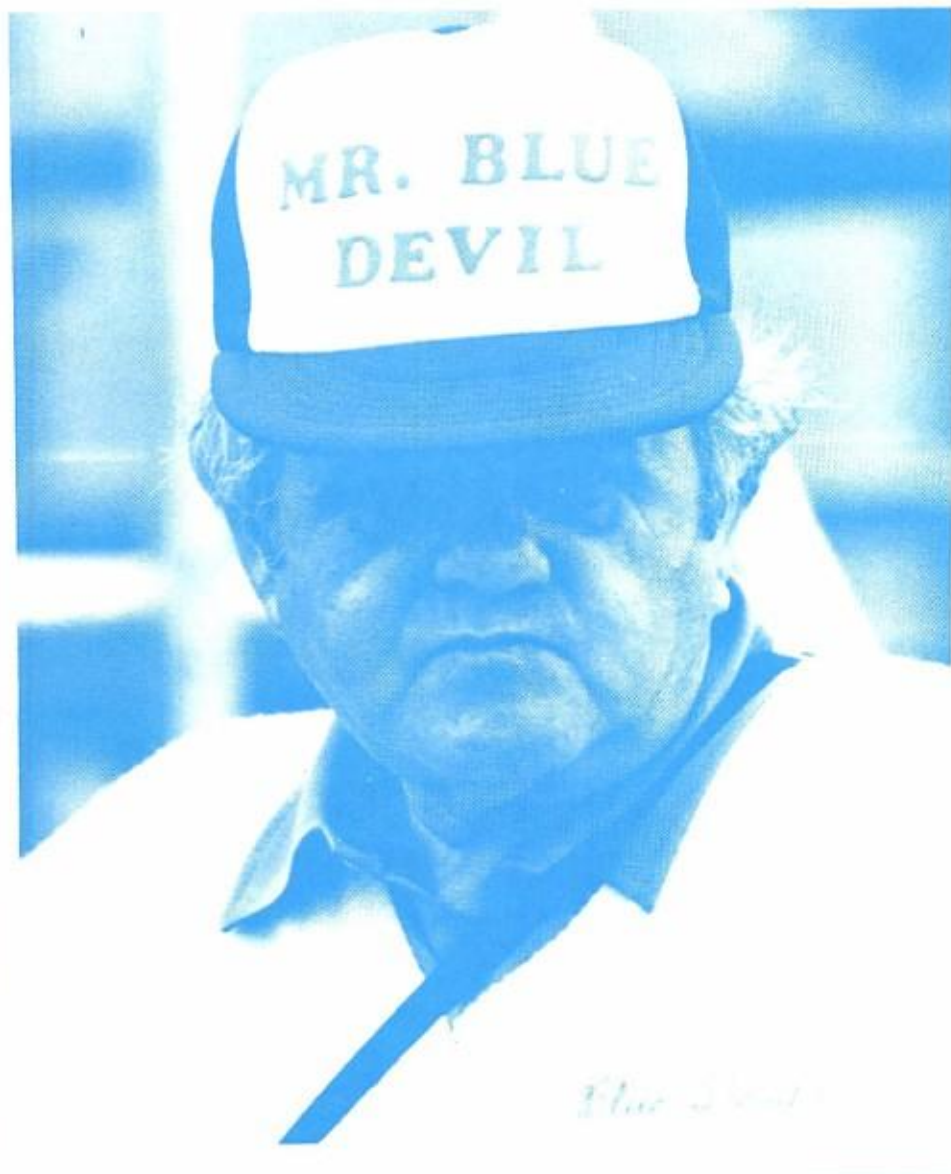

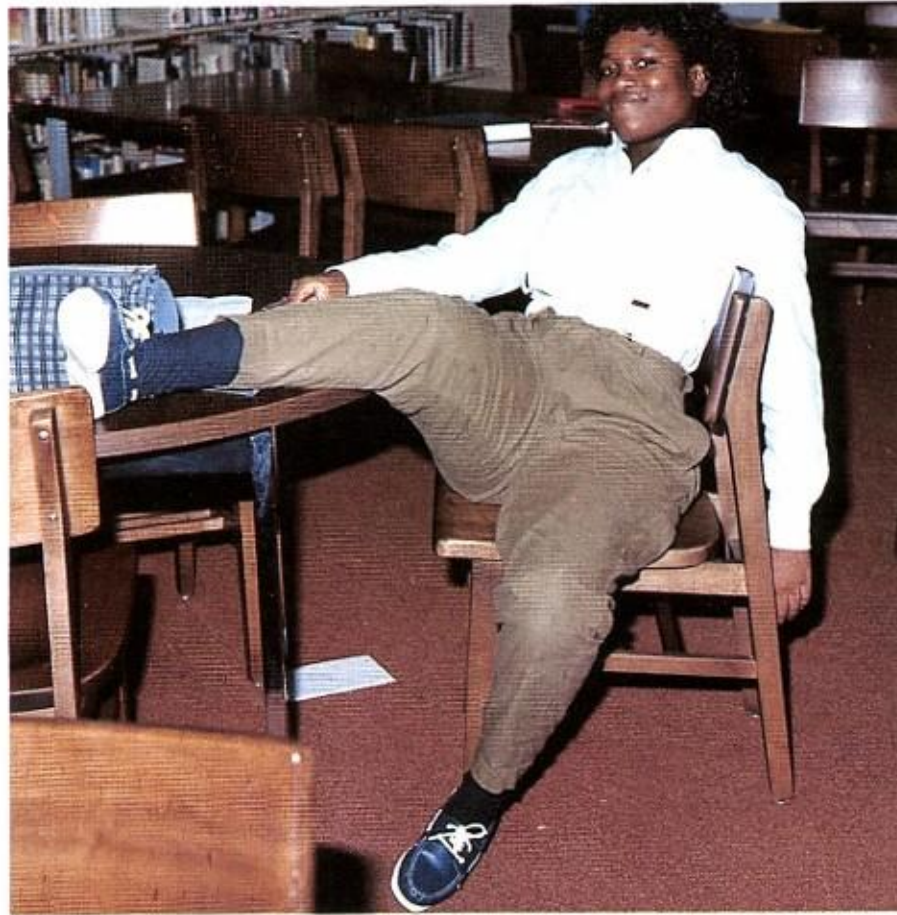

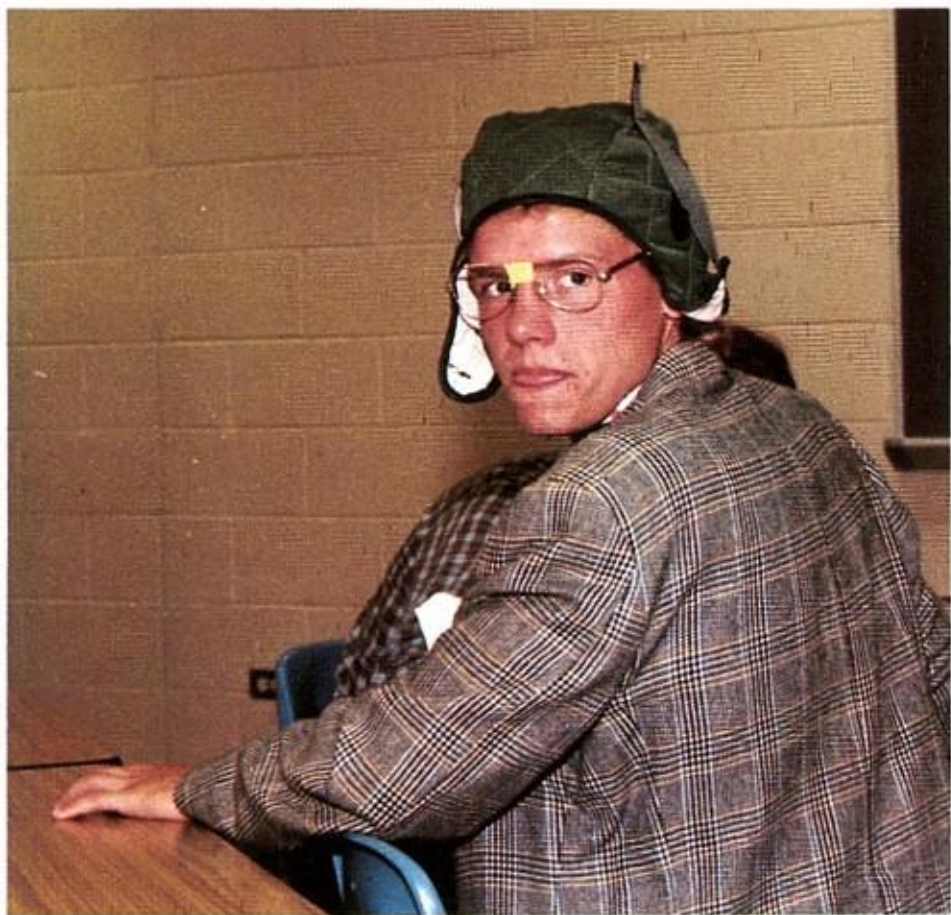

You made your move.

Warren—Moving to Change

The school provided a changed exterior and interior, including more credit in conjunction with more classes, starting with the class of 1988. New parking lot rules, and the allowance of more room with four brown modular classrooms, strategically placed at the school entrance caused many grimaces and "oh-yuks." The football field was polished, more bleachers added, the concession stand newly painted, extending a welcome to all bleacher bums. New ceilings for the field house and gymnasium added a larger-looking touch. With that, leakage and winter puddle jumping was soon to be scarce. The orange luminescent lights in the field house gave off an interesting glare and field house testing was more than the usual torture. In the absence of The Tree, once stationed securely in the middle courtyard, was a faculty lunch room. Last year, over Prom weekend, the saws were oiled and an historical branch of Warren cut apart. The tree was older than Warren and the school was built around it. Despite student body petitions and attendance at the board meeting, the administration stuck to their roots, and were quoted as saying, "We love trees too, but..." Next was the dead tree located in the front of the school; would there be others?

Warren made its move.

BOTTOM LEFT. Adding extra room to the school, were four brown modular classrooms.

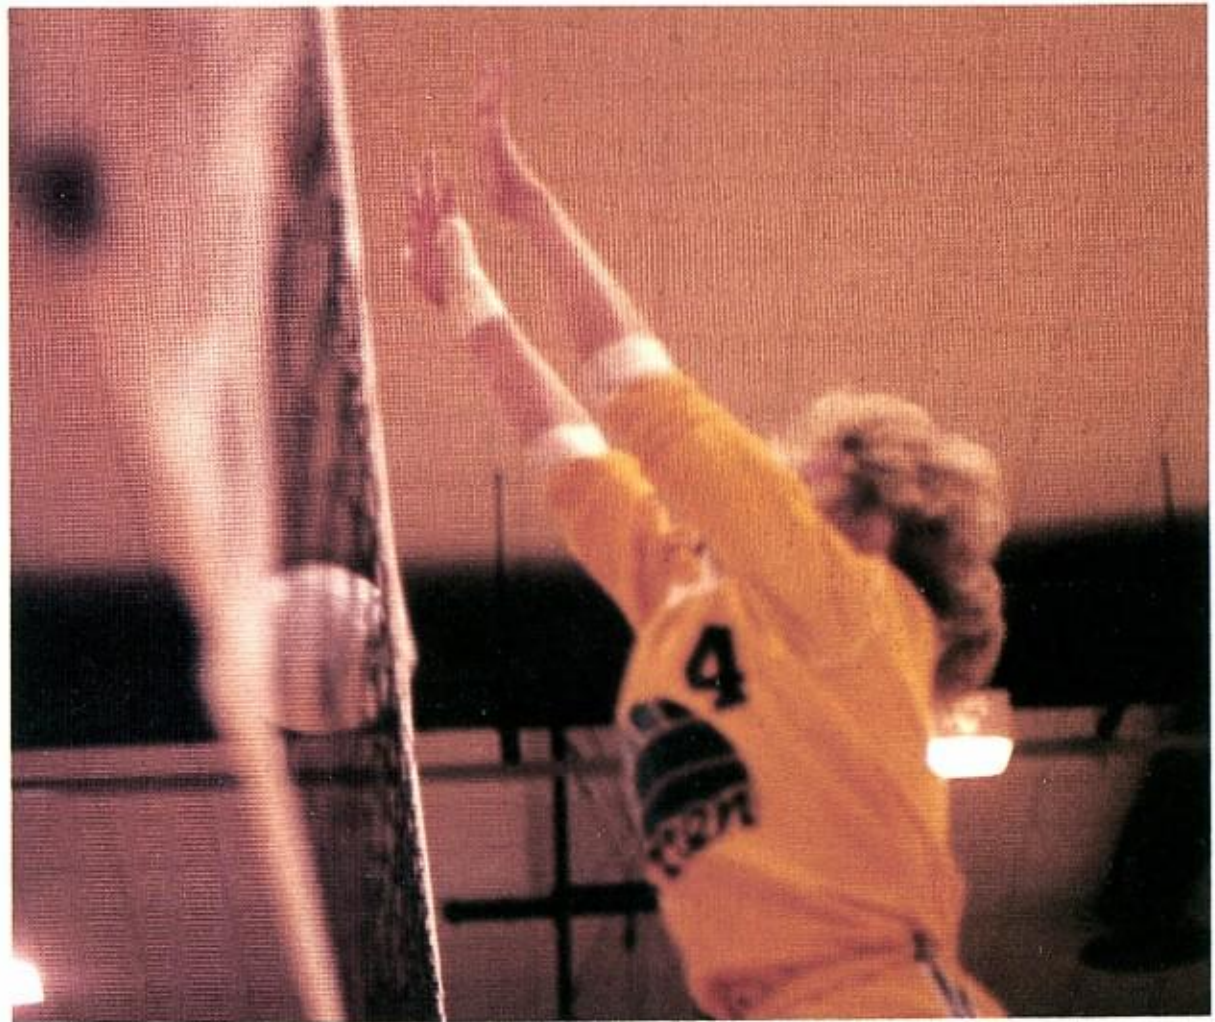

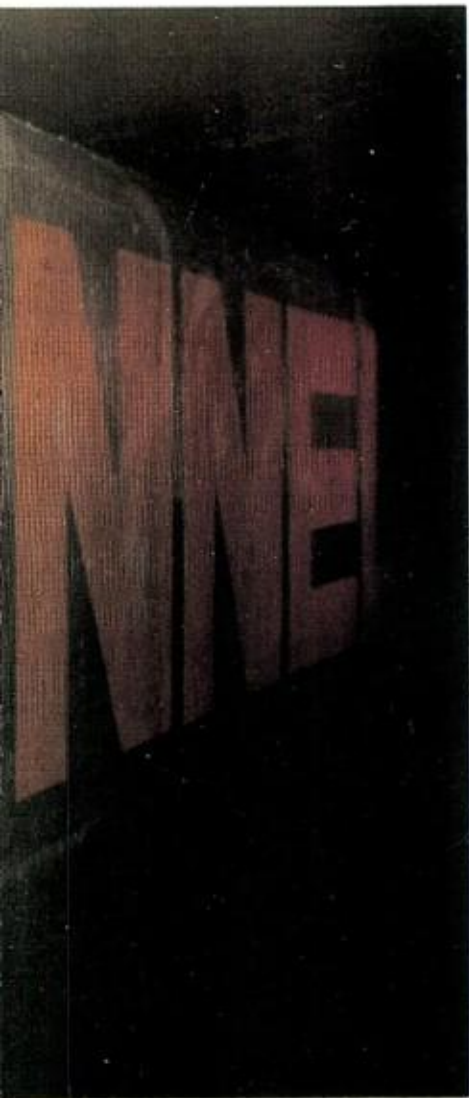

BOTTOM CENTER. Tree execution epidemic? This dead one, located in front, was, too, condemned.

CENTER. The Tunnel! For pass-ditchers it proves to be a quick get-away route from Mr. Bryan, or a great likeness to a swimming pool Warren never had, and overall a reprieve from the halls.

BELOW. The stage logo, given to Warren by the Class of 1984, created extra spirit and a great showing of Blue Devil pride.

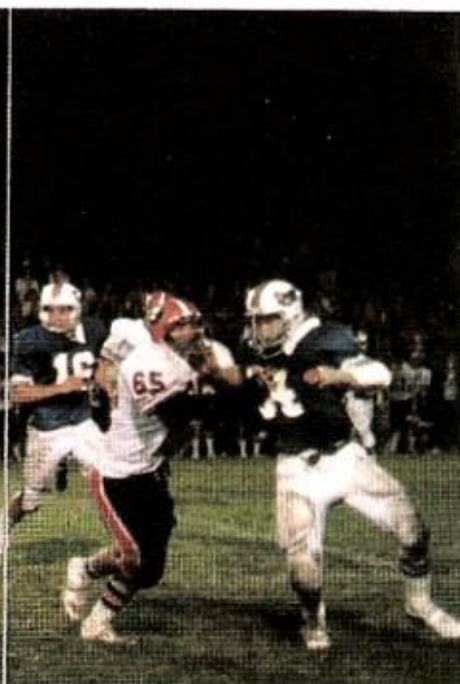

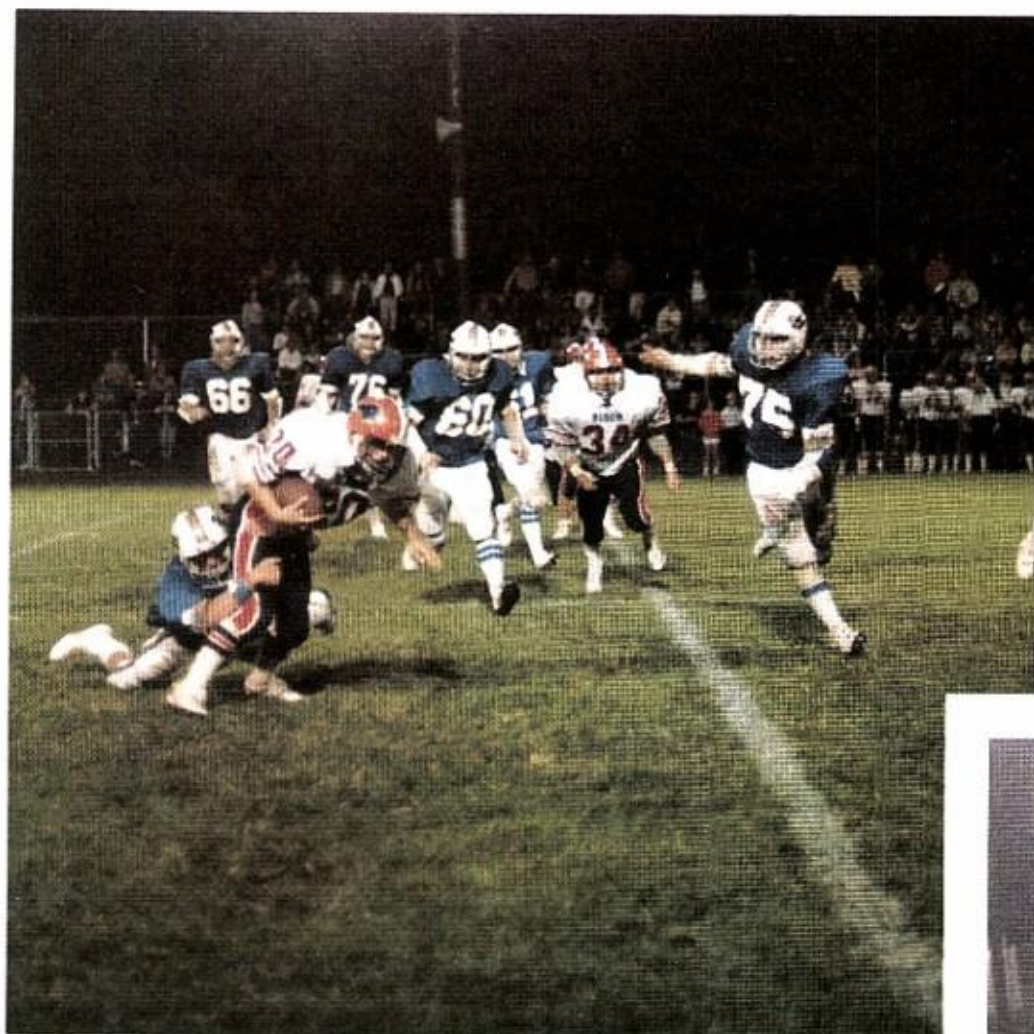

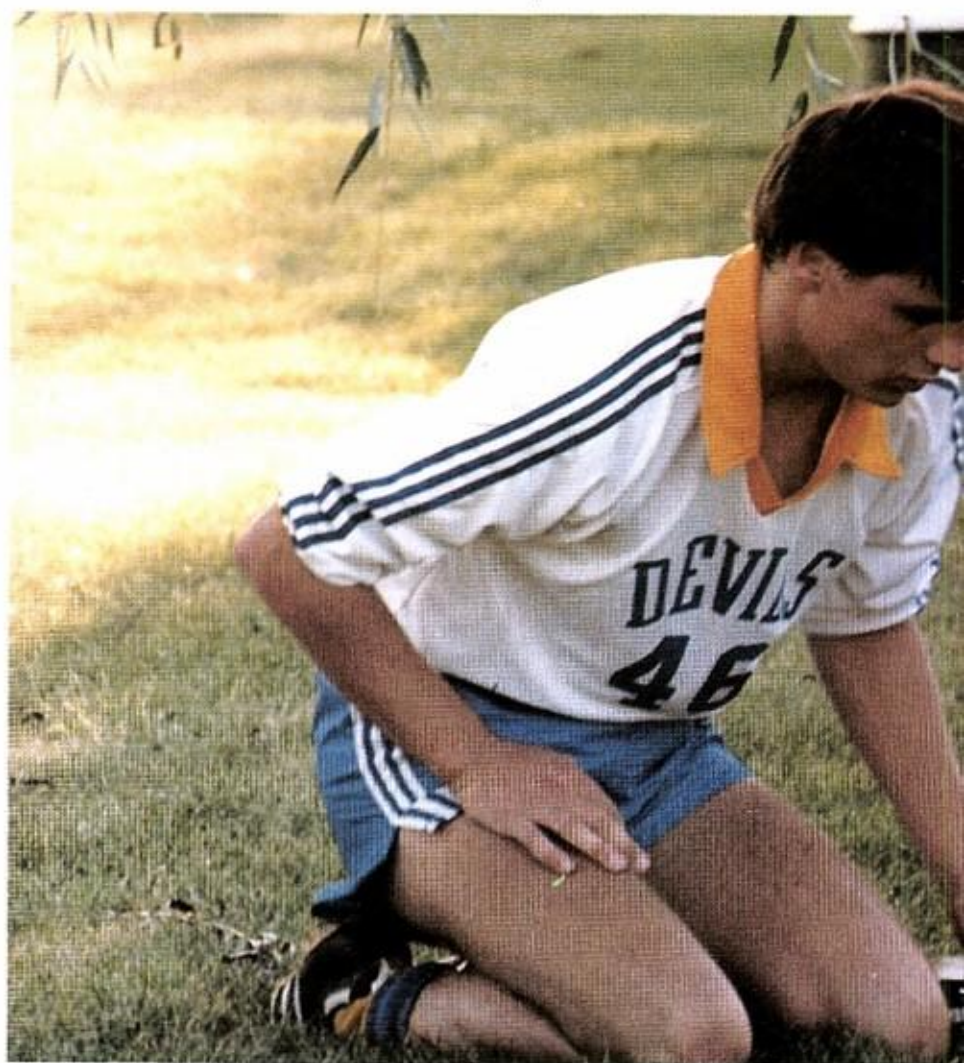

BOTTOM. If you looked up in the gym or the fieldhouse, no longer did rain-stained roof look back at you. New tile gave a new larger dimension and added light was a benefit to all goings-on.

Together, Your Moves

Even with bigger classes and many more students, Warren had an aura of unity. We all grunted at the modulars, we all laughed at the first pep assembly, we all chanted "W-W," we all cheered victory and cried defeat at the football games, those on warm-winded or rain-sparkled Saturdays or under chilly darkened fall Friday skies. We all, too, screamed "We want two" in intense, stuffy gyms, during basketball games. We all met at McDonald's and, oh! the food fights resulting in getting kicked out. The oohs, the aahs. The Chicago Cubs fans of Warren, and even those who weren't fans, jumped through the halls in October in the red, white and blue honors—the halls echoed with "Go, Cubs, Go!" or "Cubs ahead, 5-0!" Pats on backs and smiles were shared during lunch periods when the Cubs song came on. Many sang—there was so much spirit. The upperclassmen shared with the underclassmen. They were seen partying together, driving together, goofing and talking together—being together. Spirit was contagious and friends and good times were in abundance.

Those were your moves.

ABOVE. The Blue Devils capture the ball holder from Fenton and try with all their might to overcome a loss of 7-6. The Devils were winners the rest of the season with an 8-1 record.

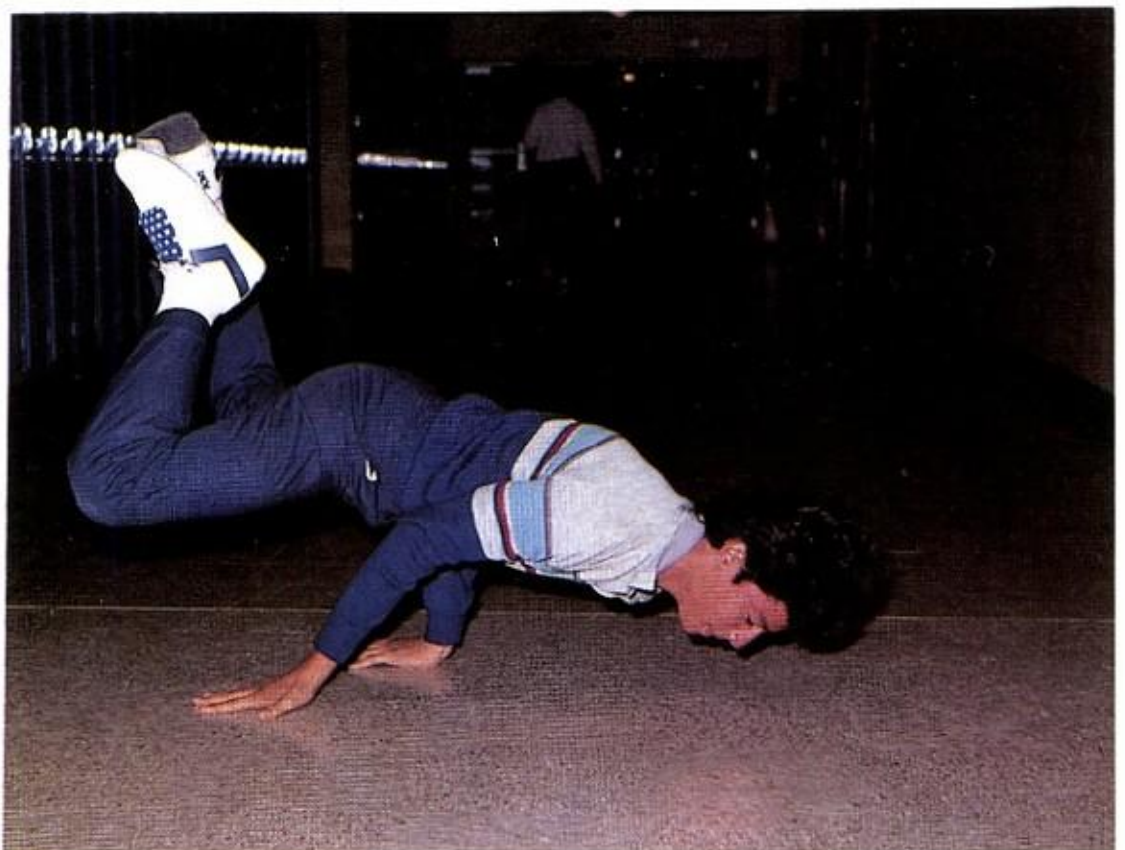

RIGHT. With the welcoming back of the Friday night pep assembly, the Miss Blue Devil contest was hot and so were those guys...er, girls. Miss Bambina Cordura won the contest.

LEFT. Mikael Karlsson, senior Swedish exchange student, relaxes after a tough soccer match. Being able to spend a year in the United States with Mr. Wendorf, soccer coach, is proving to be a great opportunity for Mike. Going to parties, learning slang and goofing around with many "American" friends, he fits in great and won't be forgotten. His only complaint—"Everything is so expensive. I'm spending so much money."

LEFT. Are they trying to be seductive? Actually, Shawn Whittingham and Laura Dempski realize senior life is best and they just wanna have fun!

Memorable Moves

After five days of hearing the teachers lecture on the circulation of a cat corpse, the product of $(x^2)(z+y^2)=m^3(w^2)$, why we need to take baths regularly, who created fire, and why the 18th Amendment was important, we all longed for the two-day "vacation" (and sometimes three or four) to take us up North, down the street, down the bowling alley, onto the fields, into stores, out of doors, up to the sky, out onto the beaches, or just far, far away. Weekends officially started on Fridays, yet teachers reminded us it's all happening after 3:25. Long awaited plans for parties, camping, spring break, and just get-togethers, got that ol' dull blood pumping and the halls buzzing. When there were no football, basketball, or baseball games and no parents out of town, one rarely watched TV alone. Popular were the "VCR" or cable parties. Some spent weekends alone—poking at their computers or talking to their books—others went out in bands of 20 or more.

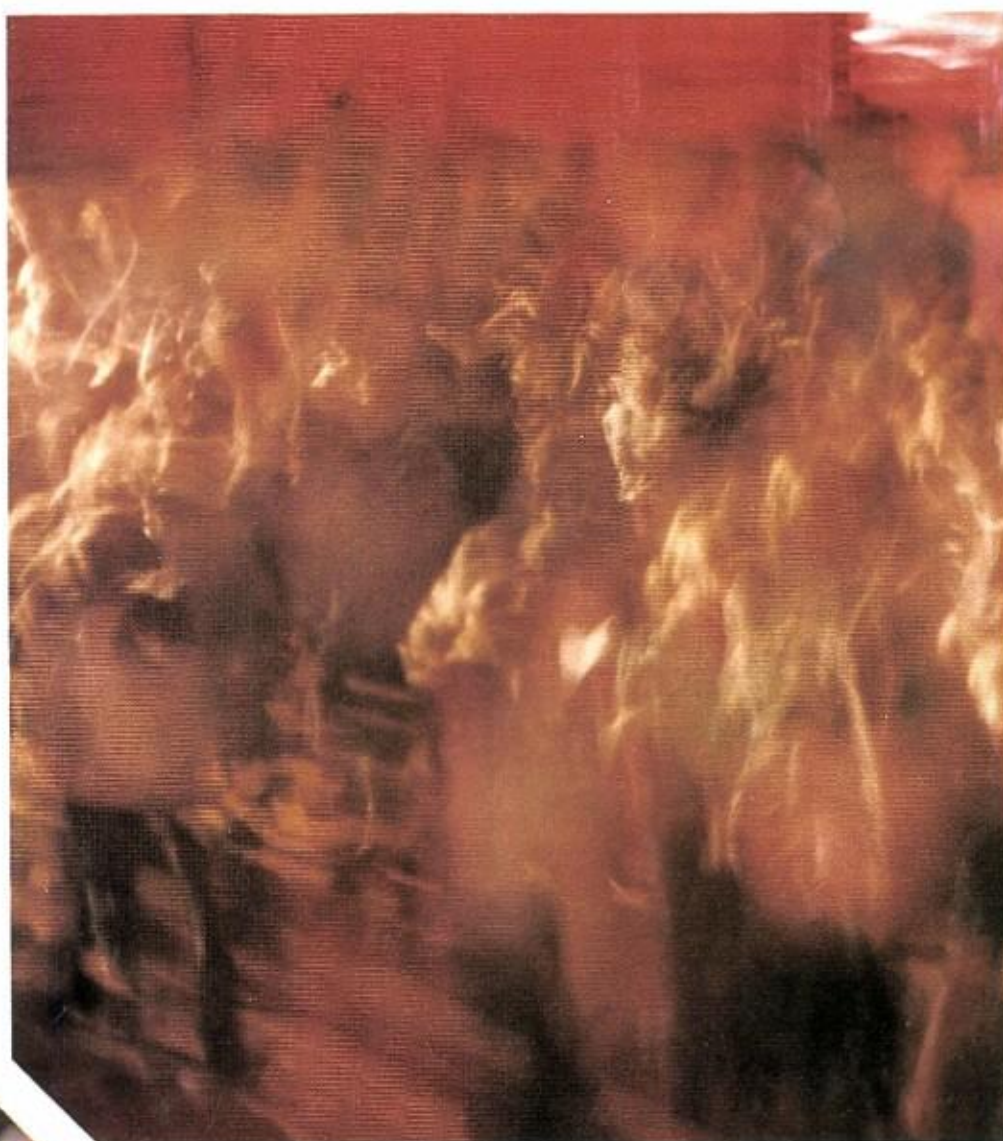

1984-85 was the year to be yourself. You were one in a million and you made it.

It's your move.

White, baby blue, and navy streamers filled the gym and brought to life the theme of Turn-about 1984—"It's Heaven." Tickets sold for $4.50 in advance and $5.00 at the door for the event held on April 14.

King Ozzie Larsen was honored for the evening with his court—Dave Lidstrom and Rob Friedman, seniors; Keith Paquette, junior; Bernie Colon, sophomore; and Brad Indlecoffer, freshman.

A D.J. from Studio Replay provided music for the dance from 7:30-10:30. He played a variety of music, including a polka by request.

Rainy weather didn't dampen spirits, especially those of the guys. This evening was a special treat for them as the girls took their turn paying for dinner and the dance.

'On the Wings of Love'—Prom, May 19, 1984

The upperclassmen looked to Prom 1984 as being the highlight of the school year. At $30 a couple, all available tickets were sold. A total of 213 student couples and 22 faculty couples attended the big event.

The activity began in Highwood, IL, with a social hour from 7-8 p.m. At 8 p.m. dinner, prime rib au jus, was served; though many students found service slow and had to wait for their meal. After dining, at 9:30 p.m., "Legend" appeared to entertain until midnight.

The theme song "On the Wings of Love" played in the background during coronation. Kris Jahnke was crowned Prom Queen 1984 and reigned for the evening with her court of Tanya Graning, Debbie Winkler, Traci Reed, Amy Schmits, Sara Thorp, and Kris Nosch.

After Prom many couples attended the traditional bowling activity at Bertrand's from 1-3 a.m. Other couples flocked to friends' houses for a movie and a sunrise breakfast. The following day, couples pried their eyes open and headed for a day of wild picnics or a day at Great America.

Hard Work Leads to a Pay Off

Awards in forty different categories were distributed to the 160 students who participated in honors night, held on May 30 at 7:30 p.m. Many attendants found the evening beneficial to their pride and pocketbooks.

The valedictorian, Robert Haugh, and salutatorian, Cathy Nelson, were officially announced along with the male and female athletes of the year, Ozzie Larsen and Colette Clark.

The Gagewood Lions Club sponsored a $500 scholarship to the College of Lake County awarded to JoAnn Hangebrauck. Andy Elsbury and Betsy Schmits were recipients of the Patrick O'Dell Memorial Scholarship. Another big winner was Michelle Soudier who seemed to spend the entire evening marching from her seat to the podium. Large scholarships went to Jon Jasnoch and also to Sandy Pahlman who received a full athletic scholarship to SIU.

For a short break during the three hour program, the folksingers performed two numbers. Immediately following the presentation, refreshments were served.

Graduation—Finally!

On June 8, 1984, 338 members of the senior class were graduated.

Due to restoration of the football field, the ceremonies were held in the gymnasium. Graduates were seated in folding chairs on the floor and a capacity crowd of parents, friends, and relatives filled the bleachers despite the extreme heat.

Beth Kirkpatrick and Roger Smith sang a duet, Michelle Soudier performed a violin solo, and Valedictorian Robert Haugh and Salutatorian Catherine Nelson both spoke of challenges the future might bring.

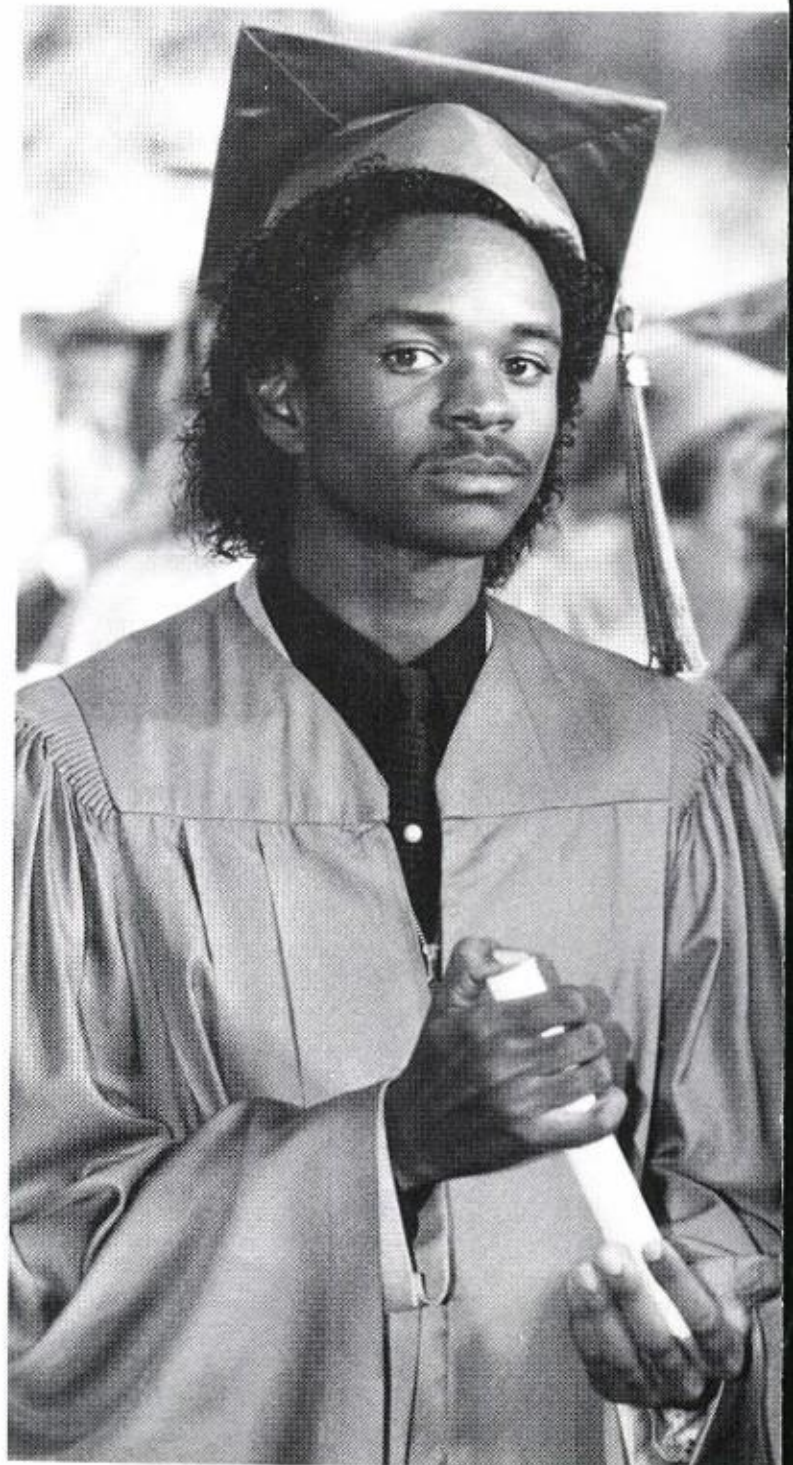

Many graduates confused beach activities with graduation rituals by smuggling several beach balls into the gym and releasing them frequently throughout the ceremony.

Freshman Fest-ivities

Freshman Fest has become an annual event to acquaint students from many different schools with each other and their new high school life. The third annual Freshman Fest took place on September 7 with a $3 admission charge. The evening began with a football game against Carmel at 4:00 where the A-team suffered a defeat, but the B-team proved victorious.

Following the game, students dined on pizza served in the cafeteria. At their eighth grade graduation practice, participants filled out forms for computer match-up sheets which they received during dinner. After dinner freshmen moved to the gym for the dance where many spent their time searching for the people on their lists. Randy Cashmore served as D.J. for the dance, the final event of the evening. The school provided buses to take the freshmen home.

Let's See Some Spirit!

Spirit Week began with "Bandana and Shades Day" on Tuesday; "Security Day," Wednesday; "Revenge of the Nerds Day," Thursday; and "Blue and Gold/Hat and Button Day," Friday. Throughout the week anticipation built for the weekend ahead.

The pep rally held at 7 p.m. Friday evening, emceed by Tom Eubanks, preceded the bonfire. The sophomores dominated the evening by winning the tug-o-war and the mummy wrap contest, however the seniors came back with a victory in the pie-eating contest won by Eugene Peterson.

Contestants in the Miss Blue Devil Pageant were judged in four categories—swim wear, evening gowns, street clothes, and answering questions. Entrants Jim Prince (Jeanita), Bill Radke (Wilma Bodacious), Bob Lachman (Roberta), Paul Garraughty (Paulina), and Bernie Colon (Bernice) all stepped aside as Dino Cordura (Bambina) was crowned Miss Blue Devil 1984.

Festivities on Saturday morning began at 10:30 a.m. with the parade down Old Grand Avenue. Approximately 100 entries were registered in the parade with the best class float award going to the seniors and the best club float award to FBLA.

Following the parade, at noon, the sophomores suffered a defeat to Lake Forest. At 2 p.m. the varsity game took place and the afternoon ended with a victory.

'The Roaring Twenties' Revived

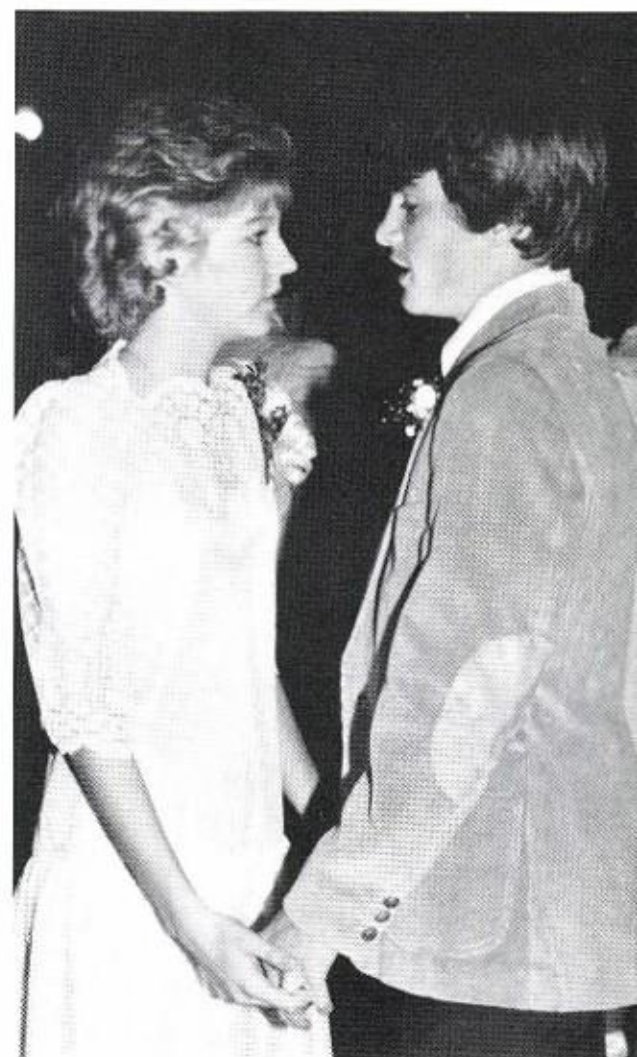

"The Roaring Twenties" was the theme for this year's homecoming festivities held on October 13. The gym was filled with red, black, and gray streamers, two gazebos, park benches, street lamps, and the traditional "Hollywood Bowl."

"Dance-aholics" provided music from 7:30 to 10:30 for the 218 couples who attended the dance. Favorite songs from Billy Idol and David Bowie got everybody out on the dance floor.

At 9 p.m. the official coronation of the king and queen took place.

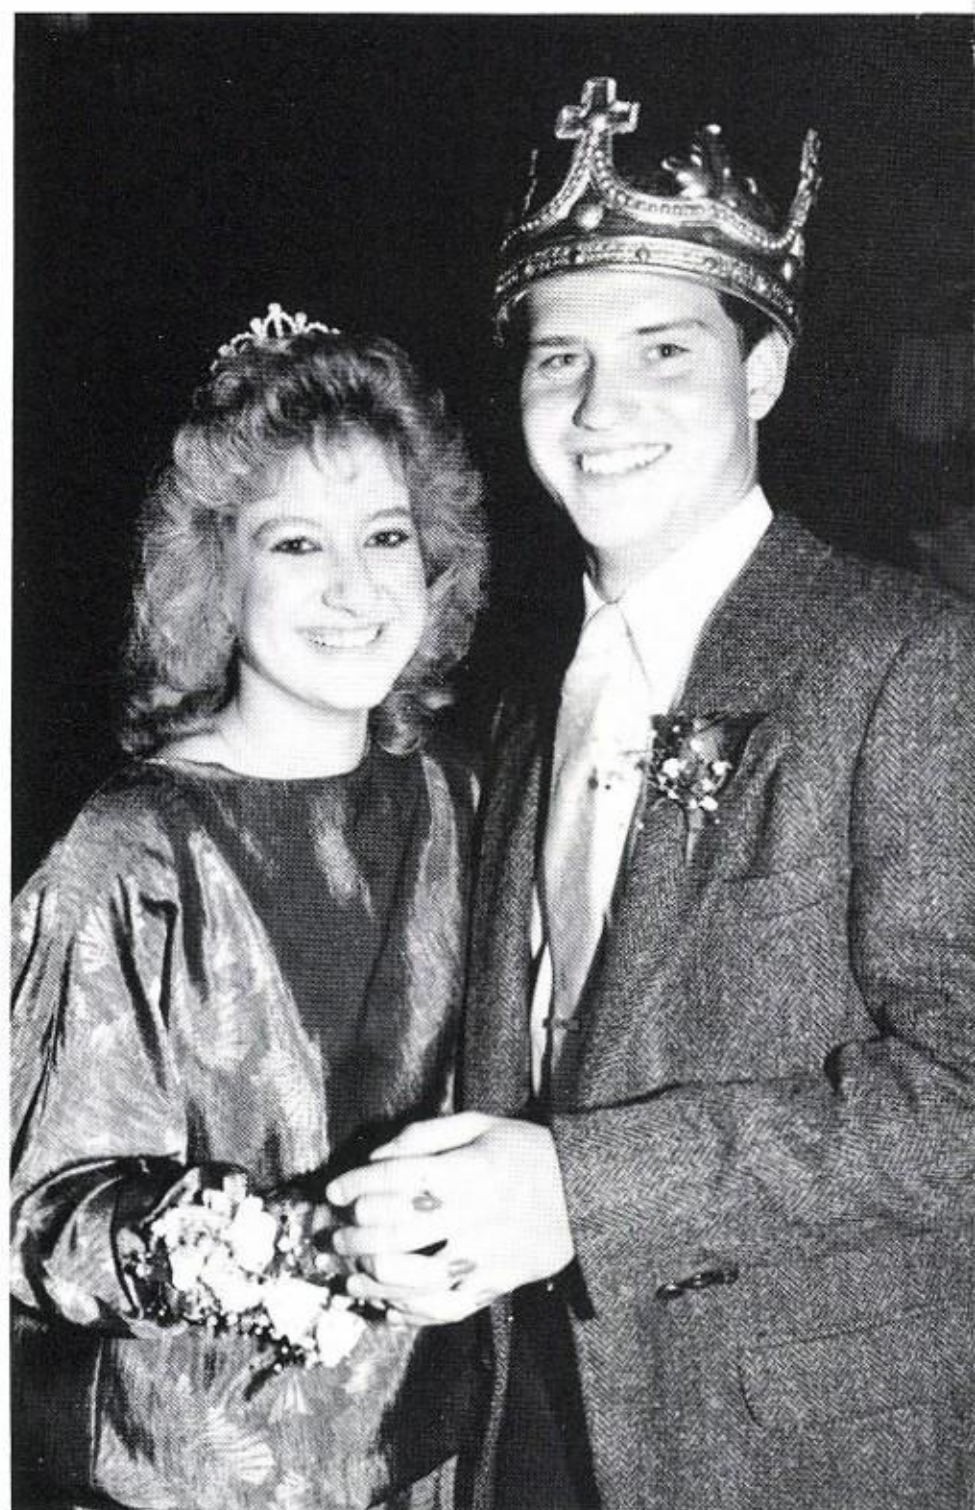

Doug Chandler and Debbie Winkler reigned with their court of Keith Paquette, Steve Paulson, Sara Thorp, and Traci Reed, seniors; Terry Crandall and Sharon Gustafson, juniors; Jim Rung and Kathy Pascoe, sophomores; Troy Rivera and Gina Reeves, freshmen.

Tickets were sold for $5 in advance and $6 at the door. Chairperson Kim Castaneda, Co-chair Jenny Nicholas, and their committee organized this student council-sponsored event.

Movement Underneath Fall's Harvest Moon

The Harvest Moon Dance took place on a damp, rainy Friday night from 8-11 p.m. The bad weather didn't hamper the fun of the many people in attendance. For $1, on November 9, students enjoyed dancing to popular songs. Many break dancers showed their style and technique both on the floor and on the stage.

Warren graduate Roberto Sandoval spun records for the masses. Known for his work at Gurnee Steak House and other local establishments, he was called back to Warren by popular demand.

This student council-sponsored event was chaperoned by Mrs. Mary Dietz, Mrs. Diane Hughes, Mr. Reggie Hughes, and Mr. Ron Malmquist.

Warren Moves

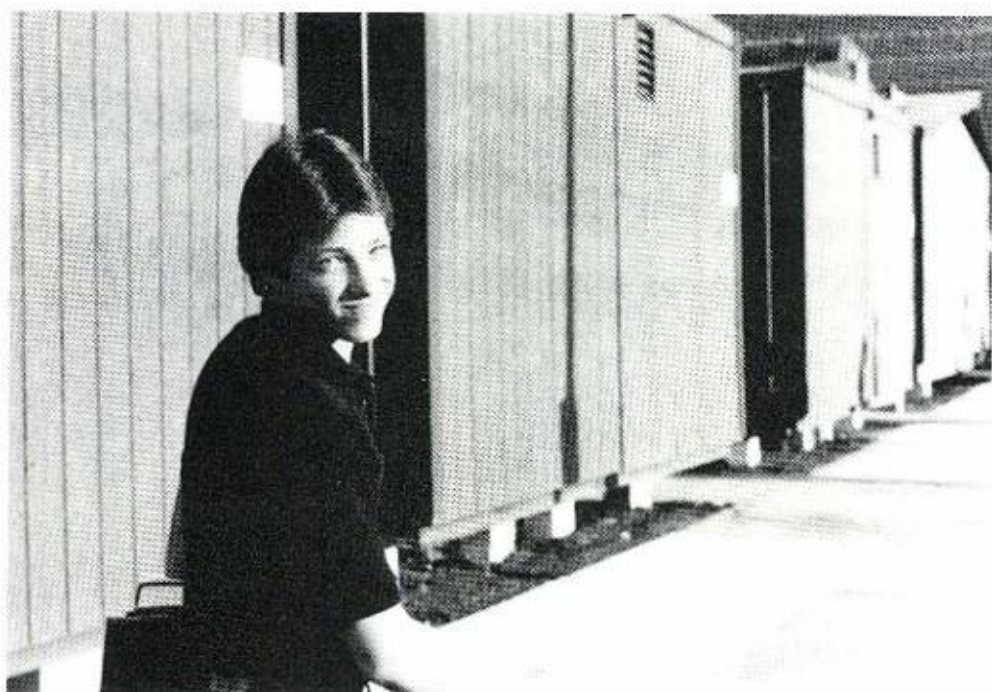

Movement never stops. Student life is constant movement—running to classes, talking to friends, even sleeping through a boring class.

Part of student life is making excuses. "Why isn't your homework done?" "My sister ate it, then my dog ate my sister." "Why were you late?" "My sister drives me to school."

Everyone at one time has wondered why he was learning things such as "if the world became overpopulated with chickens, the price of eggs (and feather pillows) would go down," or what makes a number rational. As ridiculous as some of these concepts seem, they are all part of the highly interesting student life.

Warren on the Move

Warren made a big move. A fire gutting the old section of the high school forced the administration to find a new home for 1,550 students plus faculty. With little delay, Warrenites found themselves in a modern vacant school building in Lake Forest twelve miles south of the old campus.

Due to the move, many aspects of school life changed. Split shifts became a necessity, for the new building could only accommodate 900 students at one time. Upperclassmen attended in the morning from 7:50 a.m. to 12:20 p.m., while freshmen and sophomores took the second shift—12:35 p.m. to 5:5 p.m. Classes were shortened to 40 minutes each, with the first period of each shift extended by five minutes to serve as a homeroom for announcements. With only six periods per shift, many students took gym class before or after school at the old campus to avoid dropping a class. "It could be worse," according to Beth Buechele, freshman, "we're lucky to have a school at all."

With upperclassmen rising to the sound of a crowing rooster, underclassmen walking home under a starlit sky, and the fleet of school buses lined up on route 41, it's plain to see that Warren is on the move now more than ever.

SPORTS

Commitment is the Key

Competing in basketball and softball for 4 years and volleyball 3 years, Athlete of the year Colette Clark has many accomplishments. During her junior and senior years in volleyball she was chosen All-Conference and considered one of the better spikers and setters on the team. Basketball brought many honors to Clark; her junior year Clark missed 1 game and some practice due to an automobile accident, but still ended the season as high scorer by averaging 13 points per game. Senior year Clark was team captain and high scorer with a 16.2 average per game. Along with these honors she was chosen All County and MVP.

Dedicated Performances

The 1984 Athlete of the Year, Ozzie Larsen, played four dedicated years of basketball and baseball.

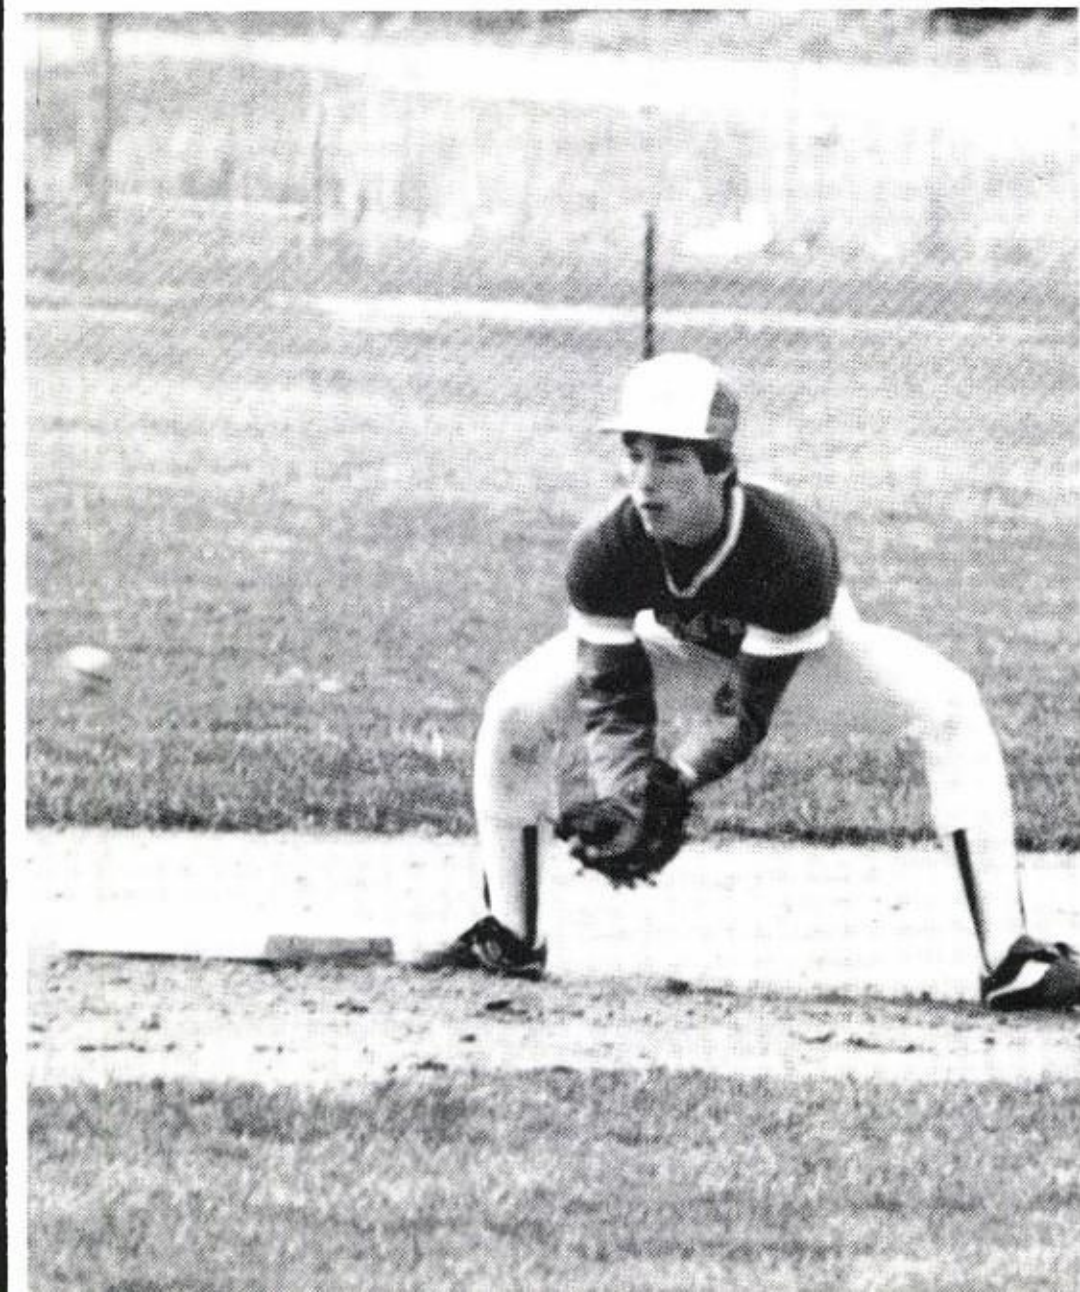

"Ru," as he was called by his teammates, started on the basketball team playing forward and guard. His consistency helped bring the team to the NSC championship and victory in Regionals over Libertyville and Carmel his senior year.

Larsen's baseball career consisted of 4 years of hard work and outstanding performances. His senior year brought the goals of 4 years into sight; with a 19-4 record, the baseball team was conference co-champions with Antioch.

Competing his best at every game, Larsen exceeded coaches' expectations.

Points Accumulating Fast

The small, but closely knit 1984 Girls Track Team had a season of good performances and surprises. The first year competing in the North Suburban Conference brought an unexpected, but well deserved record of 6-3 overall.

Cheryl Iwema lead the team with 108 scored points, earned mainly in sprinting events. Other high point scorers were freshman Lori Pixler in the field events, and the MVP, Laura Kauffman, a junior, in the distance runs. Jenna Smith, a freshman, also earned varsity points for the team in the 100 meter hurdles.

The team was highly motivated and showed much enthusiasm on and off the track. On the track, team members practiced hard, and encouraged each other to do well. Off the track, they built team unity by immersing Jenna Smith in the pit, and modeling the latest style in sweat suits at McDonald's. The unified effort of all the team helped to make the season and all the team members a great success.

Stable Senior Backbone

The 1984 Boys Track Team started the season slowly. Small turnout caused a lack of depth and experience in some events.

Stuart Sehl, a senior, was the most outstanding on the team. Sehl's experience and skill earned him the conference championship in the shot put, with a 47' 1/2" throw.

David Dwyer also did well in the conference meet, pole vaulting 11' for 6th place.

Sehl and Dwyer placed well in many meets for shot and vault throughout the season. At the Lake County meet, Sehl placed 4th with 45' 10 1/2". Dwyer placed 5th with 11' 6". At the Sate Sectionals Sehl and Dwyer both received 4th place in their events, and at the Kaneland Invitational, competing against more than 30 schools, Dwyer took 5th and Sehl 6th.

Though disappointing overall, the season was memorable for individuals.

Experimentation Benefits

The 1984 Girls Softball Teams did a lot of experimenting with positions and line-up at the beginning of the season due to the inexperience of the team members. Individual players improved and excelled in their respective positions throughout the season.

Competition in the NSC was tough, but by pulling together, the team prevailed over Zion and Mundelein, Zion having the best pitcher in the conference and Mundelein being first in the conference.

All-Conference players were Colette Clark and Kathy Peth, Peth also being a strong leader on the mound as #1 pitcher. Peth was also chosen all-county and MVP, and last fall attended George Williams College on a softball scholarship.

The new indoor batting cage financed by the Booster Club helped when weather conditions prevented outside practice, leading to the teams 11-13 overall record, and 9-9 record in the conference.

Experience Results in Action

The 1984 Baseball Team had a great season full of very strong performances. The team put out their best during every game. The majority of seniors on the team gave the experience needed to be co-conference champions with Antioch, and go on to play Waukegan West, the previous state champions.

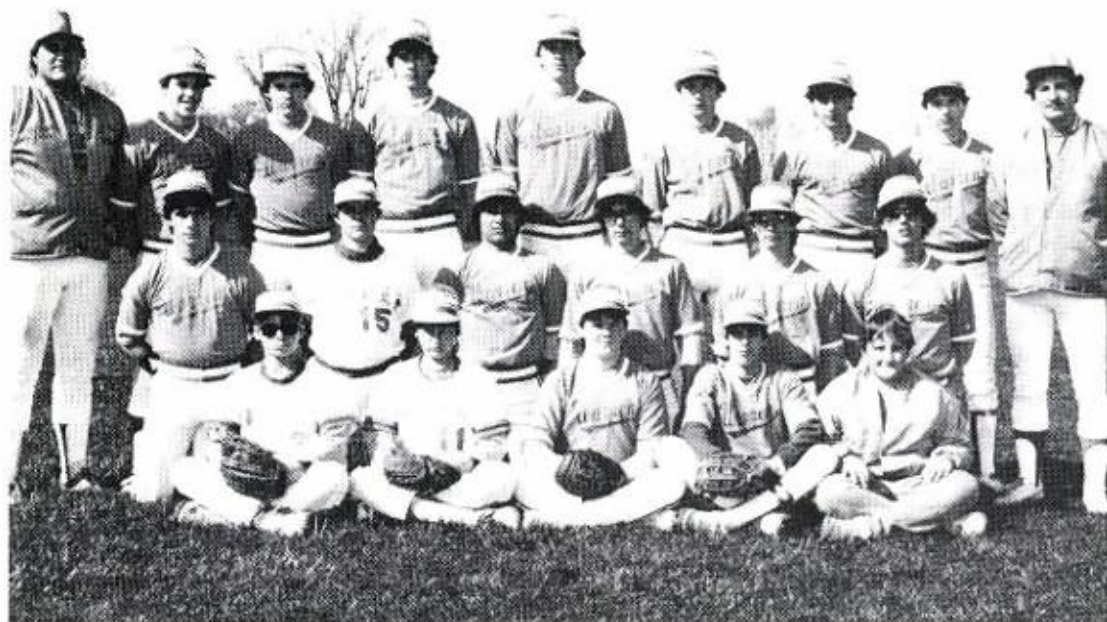

Steve Jarrell was #1 pitcher, throwing 11-1. Kory Artelt, most improved on the team, worked well as back up pitcher for Jarrell, throwing 7-1. Artelt is also considered to be one of the leading hitters in the county.

All-conference players were, Ozzie Larsen, Greg Indlecoffer, Steve Jarrell, Kory Artelt, and Bob Becker.

Strong in all areas the team was chosen as MVP. The tremendous dedication of all the players helped to achieve their 19-4 record.

Individual Experience Profits

The 1984 Boys Tennis Team had a tough season due to the new conference. Niles North and Libertyville were new teams adding to the competition.

Steve Paulson, a singles player, was a strong point and did well throughout the season. Mark Romaniuk and Keith Cizowski headed the doubles area with a 6-8 overall. Romaniuk worked very hard during the whole season. Romaniuk and Paulson shared the team MVP's.

Finishing the season with a 2-5 N.S.C. record, coach Pete Campbell states that next years improvements will rely on 2nd or 3rd singles players.

The 1984 Girls Tennis Team was not very successful record-wise, however according to Coach Chris Cowel, they improved their skills in practice as well as during matches.

There were good performances and signs of improvement throughout the season. Kelli Fiedler was #1 singles player. The #1 doubles team, Julie Western and Colleen Hehmann were the teams MVP's.

The most exciting match was against Antioch, Kathy Prpich and Elke Liewald (the most improved doubles team) played a tie breaker and won in the third set. First time out senior, Melina Vick (the most improved singles player) did her best during her one season out for the team.

Coach Cowel said she gained satisfaction by seeing the improvement of skills and character, and teamwork by the girls on the team. The varsity N.S.C. record was 1-7 and the JV record was 2-6.

Performances Move NSC

The 1984 Varsity Football Team consisted of a group of achievers who performed to the best of their capabilities despite their small size.

High points of the season were victories over archrivals Antioch and Libertyville, causing the move to the playoffs, where Crystal Lake South was defeated 30-0. The season was very positive, only losing two games, Fenton 6-7, and Deerfield 0-28 in the State Quarter-finals.

A number of seniors played well throughout the season, contributing to the 9-2 overall record. Rob Mongeau, tailback, scored the most touchdowns and rushed the most yards for the team, having 11 touchdowns and a total of 1,045 yards. The school record for most touchdowns ever scored by a receiver was broken by Eric Hansen, who scored seven and had the second most on the team.

Coach Kunkle said they threw the ball more than usual this year, having Don Nelson successfully throw 11 passes leading to touchdowns. This was also due to receivers Dave Sitz, Joe Warner and Eric Hansen. Frank Bojniewicz lead the team on defensive tackles.

Golf Team Drives on

The following golfers comprised this year's varsity team: Joe Pollack, John Phelps, Don O'Machel, Mike Foote, Jon Wilmont, team captain Mark Kattner, and Jim Roode—a team that turned out to be the fourth strongest team in Warren's golf history. Charlie Pecaro lead the frosh/soph team, and Joe Pollack attained the best average for the entire team—40.8 strokes per nine holes of golf.

A meet against Antioch at Spring Valley Country Club proved to be the team's best score of the year: a 153 total or a score of 38 per player.

Although several good seniors will be lost through graduation, Coaches Kattner and Myren felt they have a good nucleus of returning golfers to make next year's golf team competitive.

SECTIONAL FINALISTS

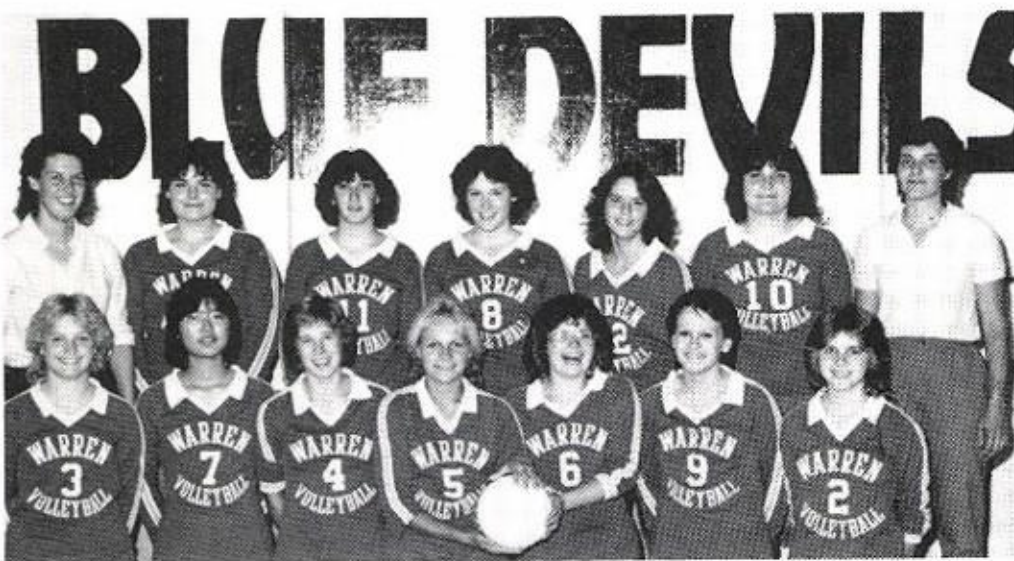

Varsity Makes Sectionals

The varsity team's making it all the way to sectionals was well deserved. Competition for the 1984-85 volleyball season was very tough, but coach Chris Woodard was fairly pleased with the overall performance of the team. Losing Colette Clark and Betsy Schmits surfaced when it came to game time. Capability was spread equally among the whole team; therefore they all received the MVP Award.

Woodard was very pleased with the performance and support of the coaching staff: Miss Moscatelli, Mrs. Hughes, and Miss Middleton.

Hard work and effort was the name of the J.V Team. Two players who stood out from the rest of the team were Dawn Bendery and Tiffany Holmes.

Sectional Qualifiers

The 1984 Girls Cross Country team was a team of only eight girls whose close-knit group was held together by leadership of co-captains Laura Kauffman and Sharon Rudd, also the co-MVP's. The goal of the season had been to qualify for state sectionals as a team, however, only three runners were eligible. Kathy Stoneman, most improved throughout the season, placed 10th in the Regional Meet, Sharon Rudd placed 14th, and Laura Kauffman 22nd, to run in the State Sectional meet at Niles West.

Throughout the season a total of 2316.75 miles were run. Leading was Stoneman with 334 miles, then Kauffman with 321.75, and Melissa Hrischuk with 320.25.

The NSC record was 2-6 and the overall record was 5-7.

Small Team Runs On

The 1984 Boys Cross Country team started out as a success but due to numerous injuries and the loss of two top varsity players, the season ended in a disappointment for coach John Ariola. Senior Kent Smith, and Sophomore Geoff Foote (who qualified for state competition) were the two outstanding runners this season. Varsity runners Steve Brown and Kent Smith provided outstanding leadership for the team and helped the other players.

The team worked hard through the summer, by repeating long runs, to prepare for this season. Coach Ariola said the team needed to have more runners, and also needed to avoid injuries to be successful next year. The team would like to thank the community for large turnouts at meets and sponsoring several of their runs.

Warren Soccer Finds NSC

After years of pleading and biding their time in community soccer leagues, Warren soccer players were finally rewarded this year with their first team. Last year's entrance into the NSC conference, along with the recent local and nation-wide surge of interest in the sport provided the needed encouragement for establishing this sport at Warren.

This year's team faced the obstacles involved in starting a new sport from scratch. Practices and games took place on the marching field by the field house or at Viking Park. All who came out got a position; however, Coaches Wendorf and Quinn would have welcomed even more players. And because this was the first season for soccer here, many players were playing together for the first time, thereby lacking experience together on the field.

Nevertheless, Swedish exchange student Mikael Karlsson, half back, was named all-conference and MVP. And the team's drive to win helped them score a victory over Antioch. Ian Vasquez at forward, Rico Cordura at goalie, and Ben Kibbe at fullback all put forward commendable performances for this new team.

Stretch for the Top

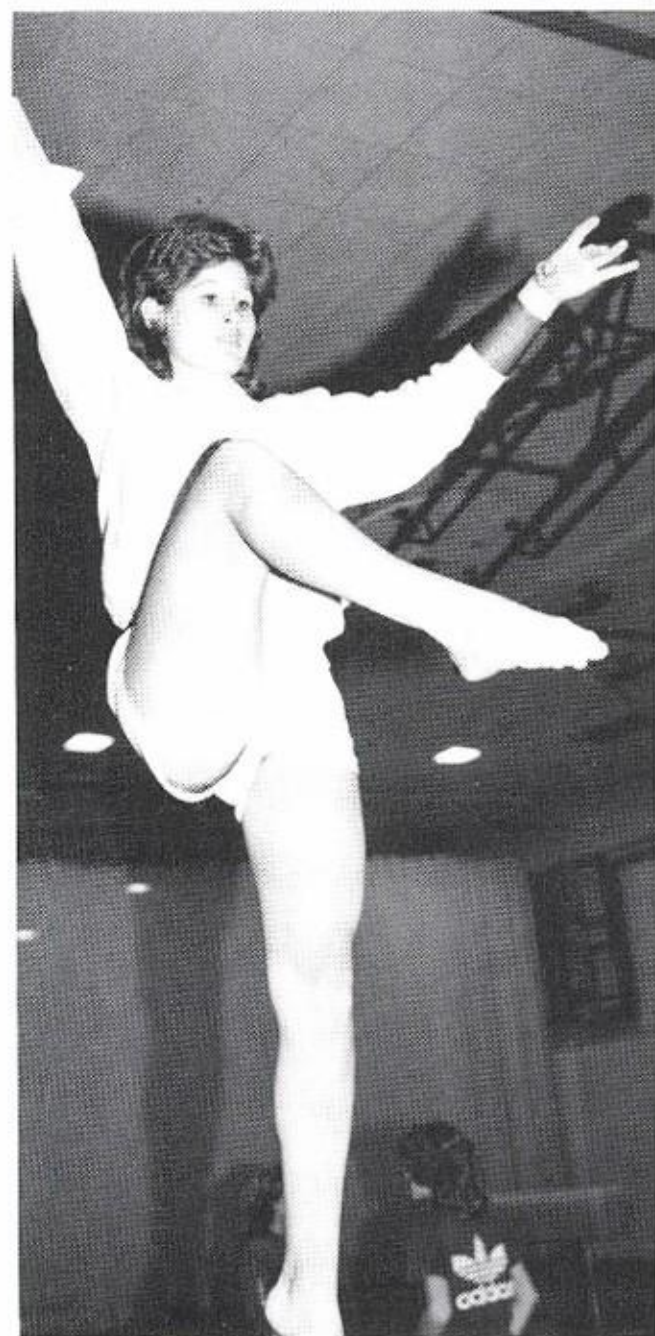

Steady improvement characterized this year's dedicated Warren Gymnastics. Senior leaders Shawn Whittingham, Kris Jahnke, Dawn Arenas, Cathy Vrabel and, Sheryl Corder will be missed on the promising 85-86 team. Breaking the school record with a 7.7 average at the conference meet was Shawn Whittingham, a gymnast who was "excellent all-around" according to coach Diane Hughes. Also, Kris Jahnke placed second on the beam at the regional meet, thereby qualifying her for the sectionals.

The varsity's dedication to improvement spurred on the JV team as was evident in their fifth place at the conference meet.

Wrestlers Move On Mats

This year's 1984-85 varsity wrestling team had a disappointing start but ended up successfully. They seemed to have a mid-season slump, but came back strong after Christmas break. Frank Bojniewicz, Joe Warner, Rob Mongeau, and Mike Butler were some of the outstanding senior wrestlers.

However, talent does not lie in the senior class alone. In the junior class outstanding wrestlers were Mark Opal, Brad Mateja, and Mark Cobb. Jeff Chumbly and Scott Taylor were talented sophomores on the varsity team.

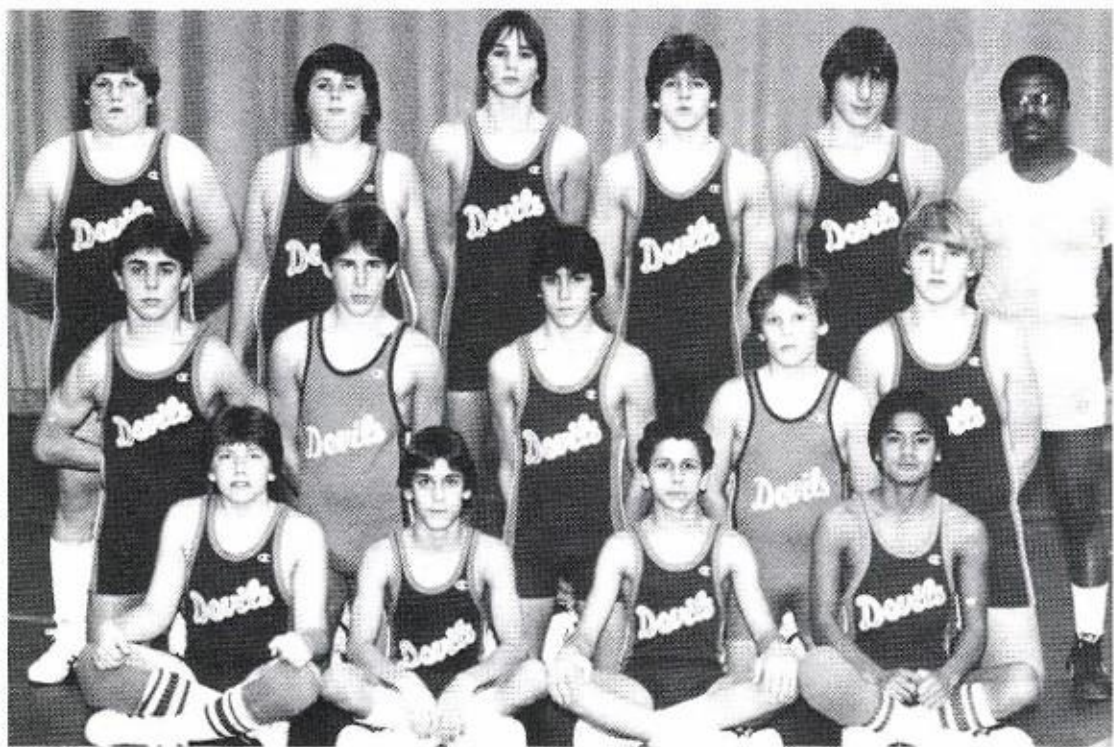

Coach Mark Tiffany stated that the split schedules had badly affected team practices.

In spite of difficulties due to the Warren fire, Warren wrestlers performed well on the mats this season.

The successful 1984-85 varsity girls bowling team had an overall record of 8-3 and a conference record of 5-3. The new schedule presented an obstacle but all teams met their goals to finish in the top half of the conference, increase their average and feel competitive.

Talent-wise, this year's team was not as strong, but spirit and enthusiasm were stronger, according to Coach Julie Cadieux. The team was more aware of the need to encourage one another.

Mary Hoth from varsity took 1st as Best Bowler in the conference meet with her spares. 3 out of 8 girls got medals. Top medalists were junior Lynn Arvidson who finished in 6th place and sophomore Dawn Kruse who finished in 7th.

The team improved throughout the season. Mary Hoth, Barb Huffhines, Jan Burchell increased their averages about 10 pins. Lynn Arvidson with the biggest improvement came out with about 15 pins ahead. All in all, the team finished with many strikes down the alleys.

The 1984-85 Varsity Girls Basketball season was full of ups and downs. With an overall record of 14-6 and an average of 44 points per game, the team proved to Coach Bruce Campbell that they could do the job.

"They were a competitive and strong team this year, even though we lost a few crucial games at the buzzer," stated Coach Campbell.

The team had high hopes about this year's conference, but they weren't as happy as they could have been about their overall record.

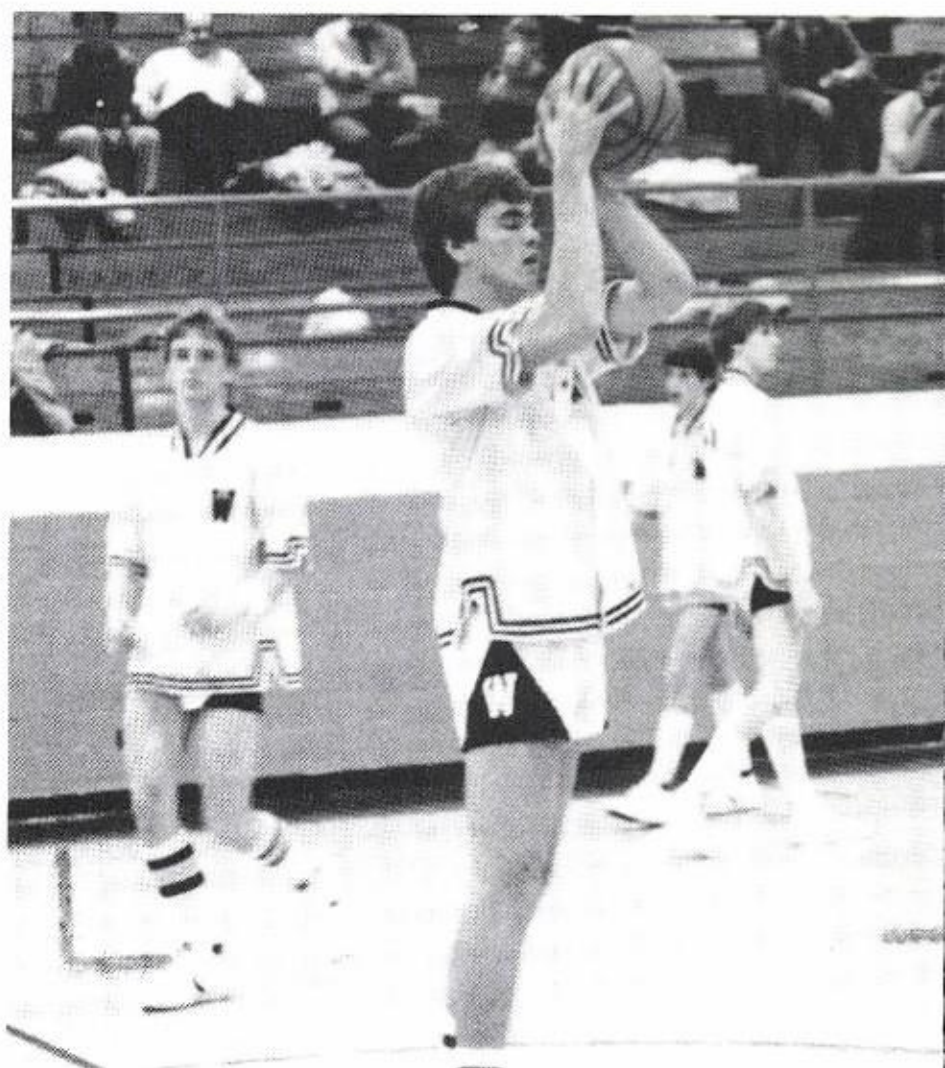

They set the foundation for outstanding future teams. Not having many seniors, the varsity squad can only look ahead for a more experienced team.

Varsity Climbs to Top

The varsity boys basketball team went into this season with the best record in the county over the past two years. Although this season was not as good as past years, it was still a very successful season.

Team leaders for this year's team were senior Dave Sitz, who led the team in scoring; sophomore Brian Jarrell, who was second on the team in scoring; and junior Joel Elfering, the leading assist man on the club.

Mr. Bader feels the whole team played an important role in this season, and adds, "This team was full of good students and athletes who had a lot of character. They met my expectations as a team. Warren had three all-conference players this year, those being Brian Jarrell, Joel Elfering, and Dave Sitz. Congratulations to the 1984-85 varsity players.

ACADEMICS

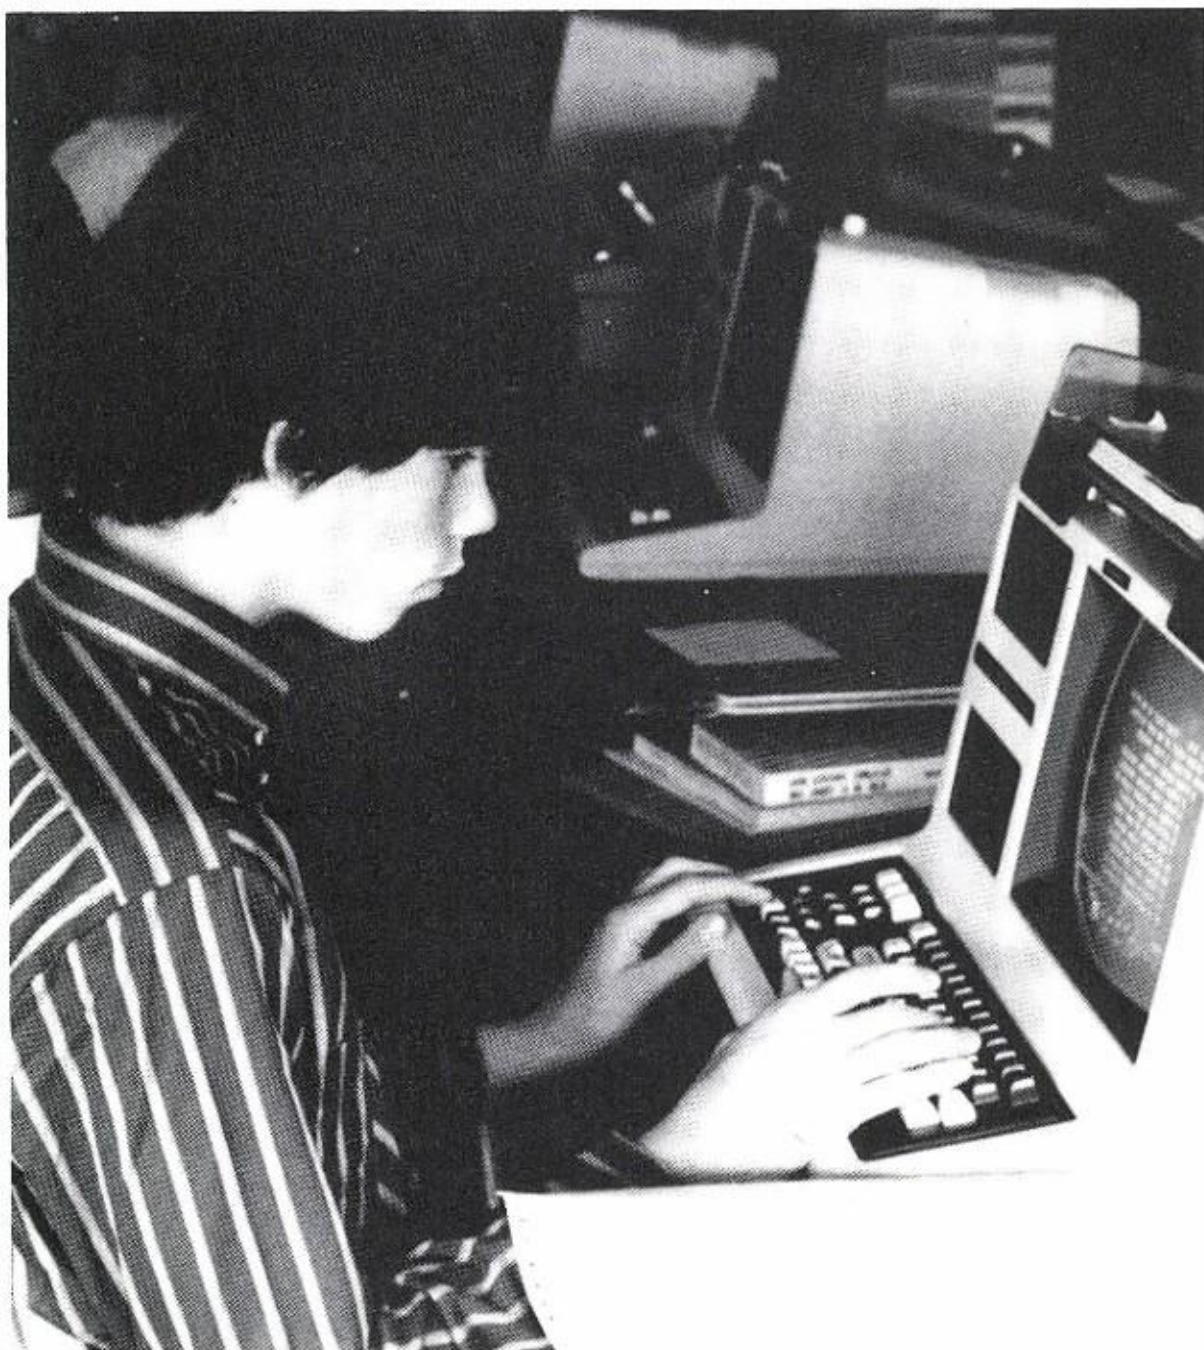

2b or Not 2b . . . That Is the Question—Math

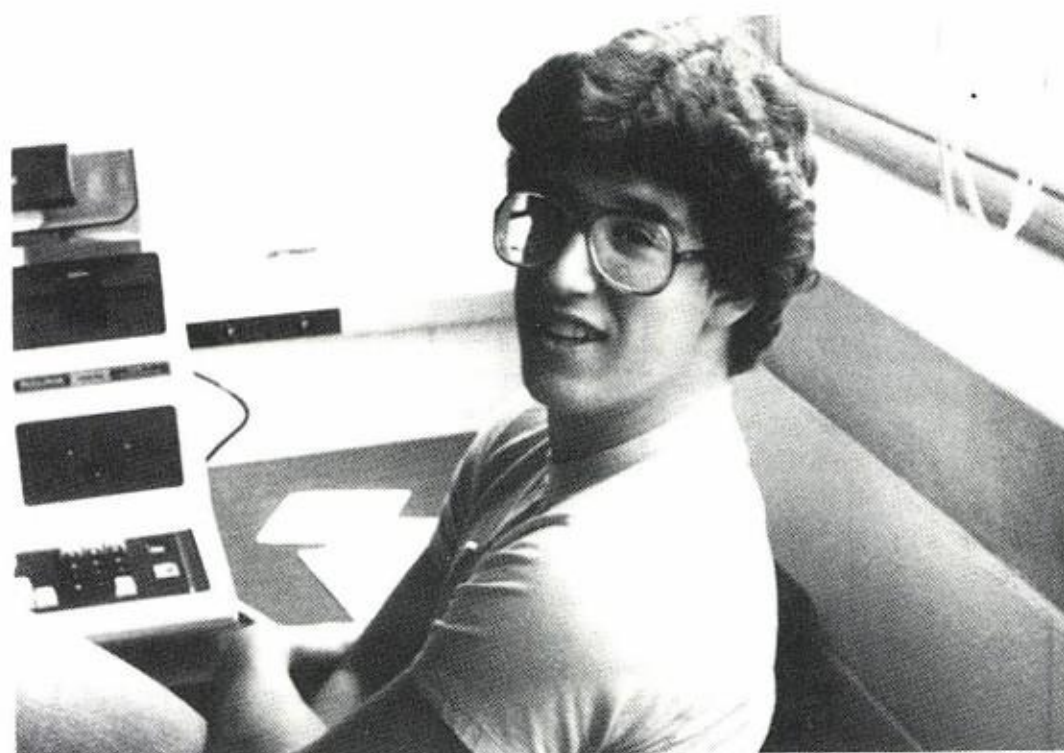

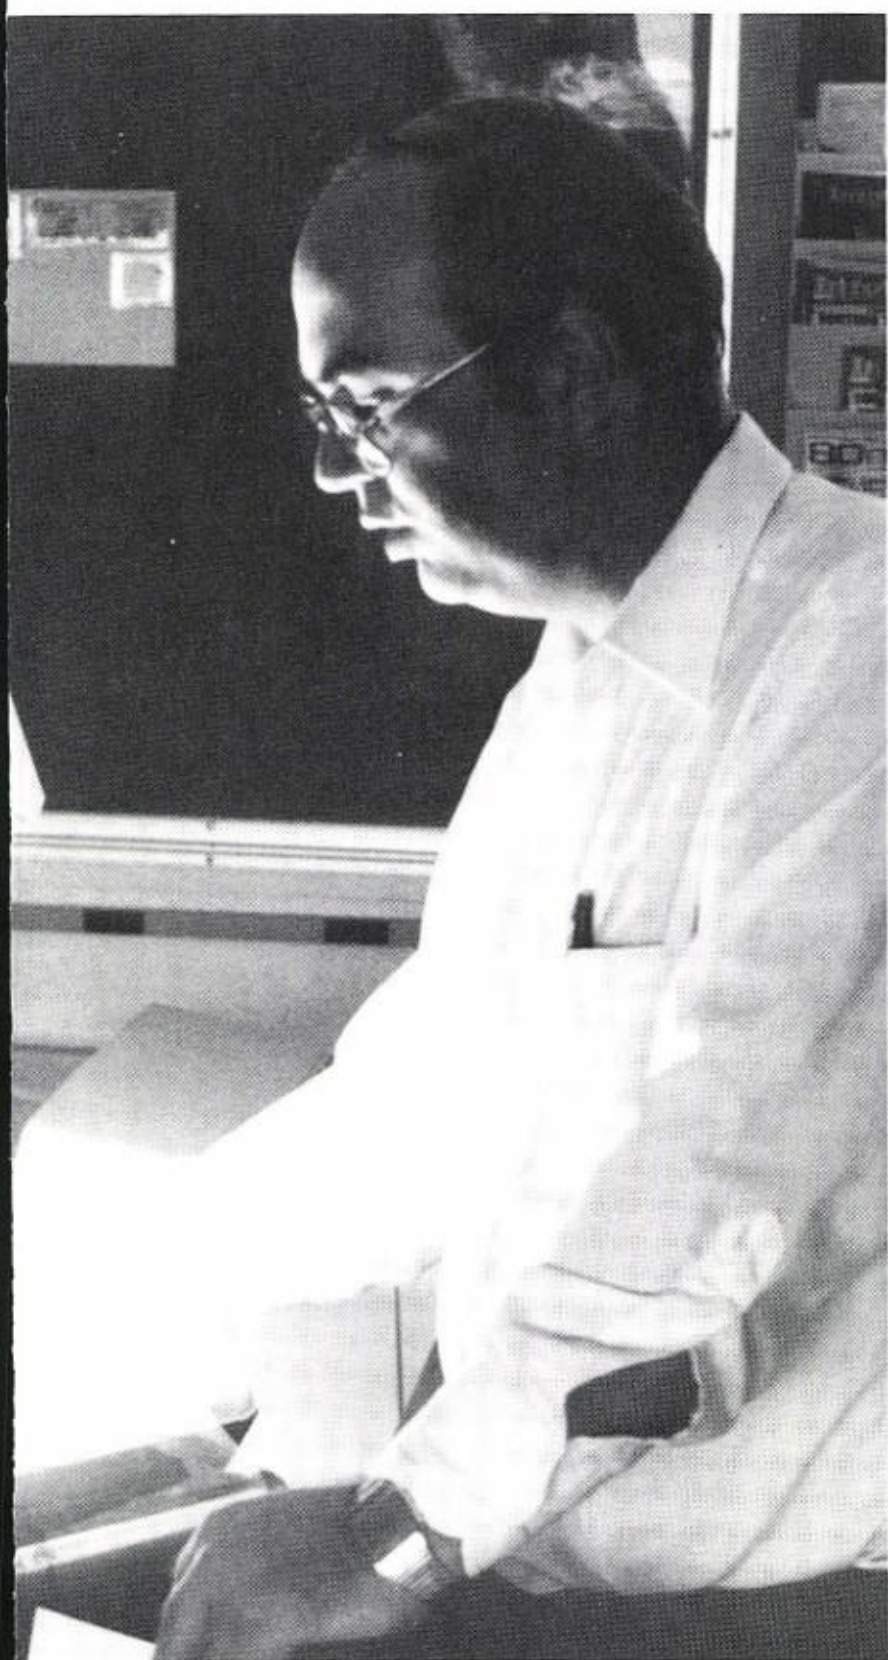

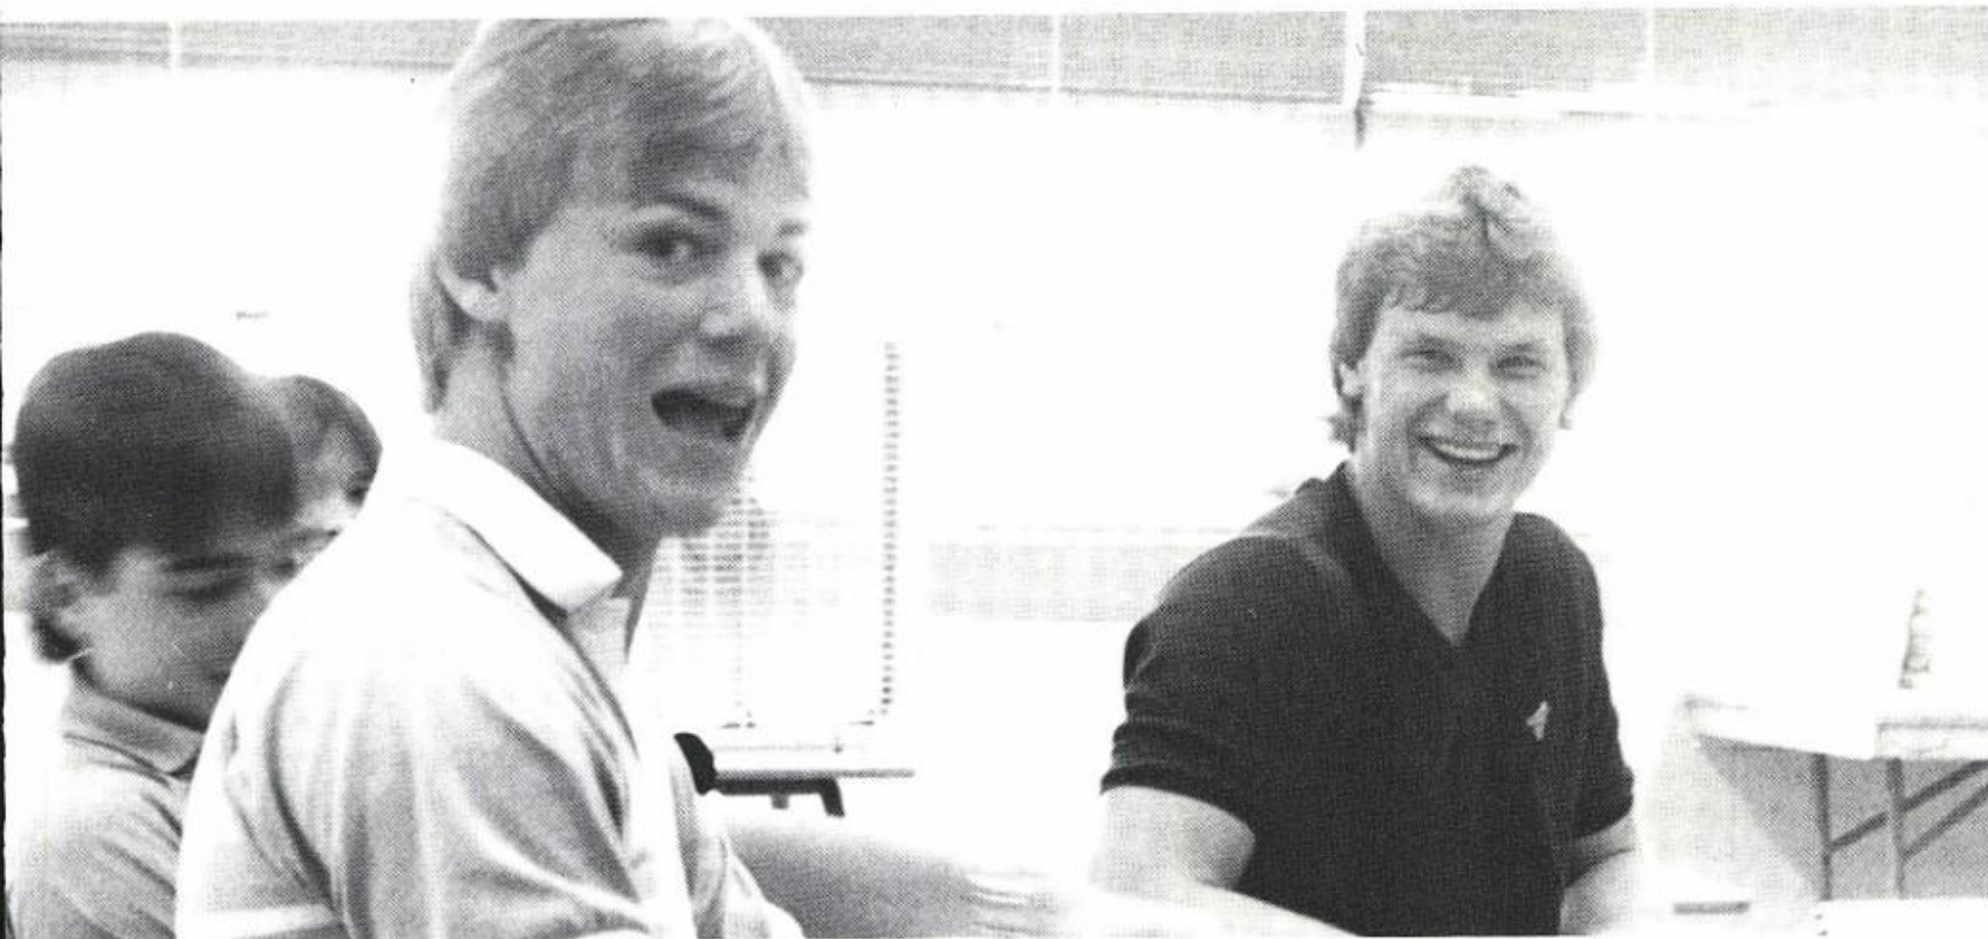

From simple arithmetic to complex computer programs, the math department felt an enrollment increase. But with the help of three new teachers, and eighteen additional computers, students will be prepared for the high-tech world.

Eighteen TRS-80's and three printers were a welcome expansion for the department as well as a computer lab which was able to accomodate twice the number of students.

From Books to Floppy Discs

Math classes aren't the only ones using computers anymore. The English department purchased two new computers of their own.

Being helpful in many ways, the computers were always in use be it members of Scratch Paper, Creations or Yearbook, teachers, or even students who like to play games.

Also new to the department, Mrs. Judy Frank replaced Mrs. Ellen Wolf. Mrs. Frank began Warren's own radio station, W.O.W.F.

History

History is defined as a chronological order of past events. On the other hand, history is as recent as the preceeding second.

Warren definitely made a place in history on December 20, 1984. Like an unexpected guest, not to mention an unwelcome one, a fire wiped out one-third of the school leaving it unusable for the students and faculty. Taking the news like a painful shot to the heart, students bonded together and hoped to be with friends again. Thanks to Lake Forest West Campus, students remained as one with the exception of the split shifts dividing grades 9 and 10 from grades 11 and 12.

Pulling together and proudly wearing blue and gold, students survived the Warren Fire.

"Oh how I dread that awful day when next to me a frog shall lay. And in my hand a trusty knife, I hope he had a happy life. What's in a frog is not my care, I cannot cut. I do not dare. But then again I need a grade, it's something that I can't evade."

Biology classes will never forget their experiences in dissecting many types of creatures, from worms to cats. Though most students enjoyed this particular aspect of science, it was not uncommon to hear a frequent moan or squeal.

Considering the absolute lack of any preparation area, and the critical shortage of classroom space, the Science committee on goals found that a developmental course in physical science would be desirable. Some faculty also recommended an accelerated physical science course for freshmen and sophomores.

French, German and Spanish classes found themselves to be quite busy. A trip to the Art Institute, plays, and Octoberfest in Milwaukee were just a few of the out of class activities students participated in. Third and fourth year students shared their knowledge with Gurnee Grade fourth grade students for a semester, teaching basic vocabulary and numbers.

As far as new additions, two new teachers joined the foreign language department, Miss Laurel Washer and Mr. Brad Greenburg.

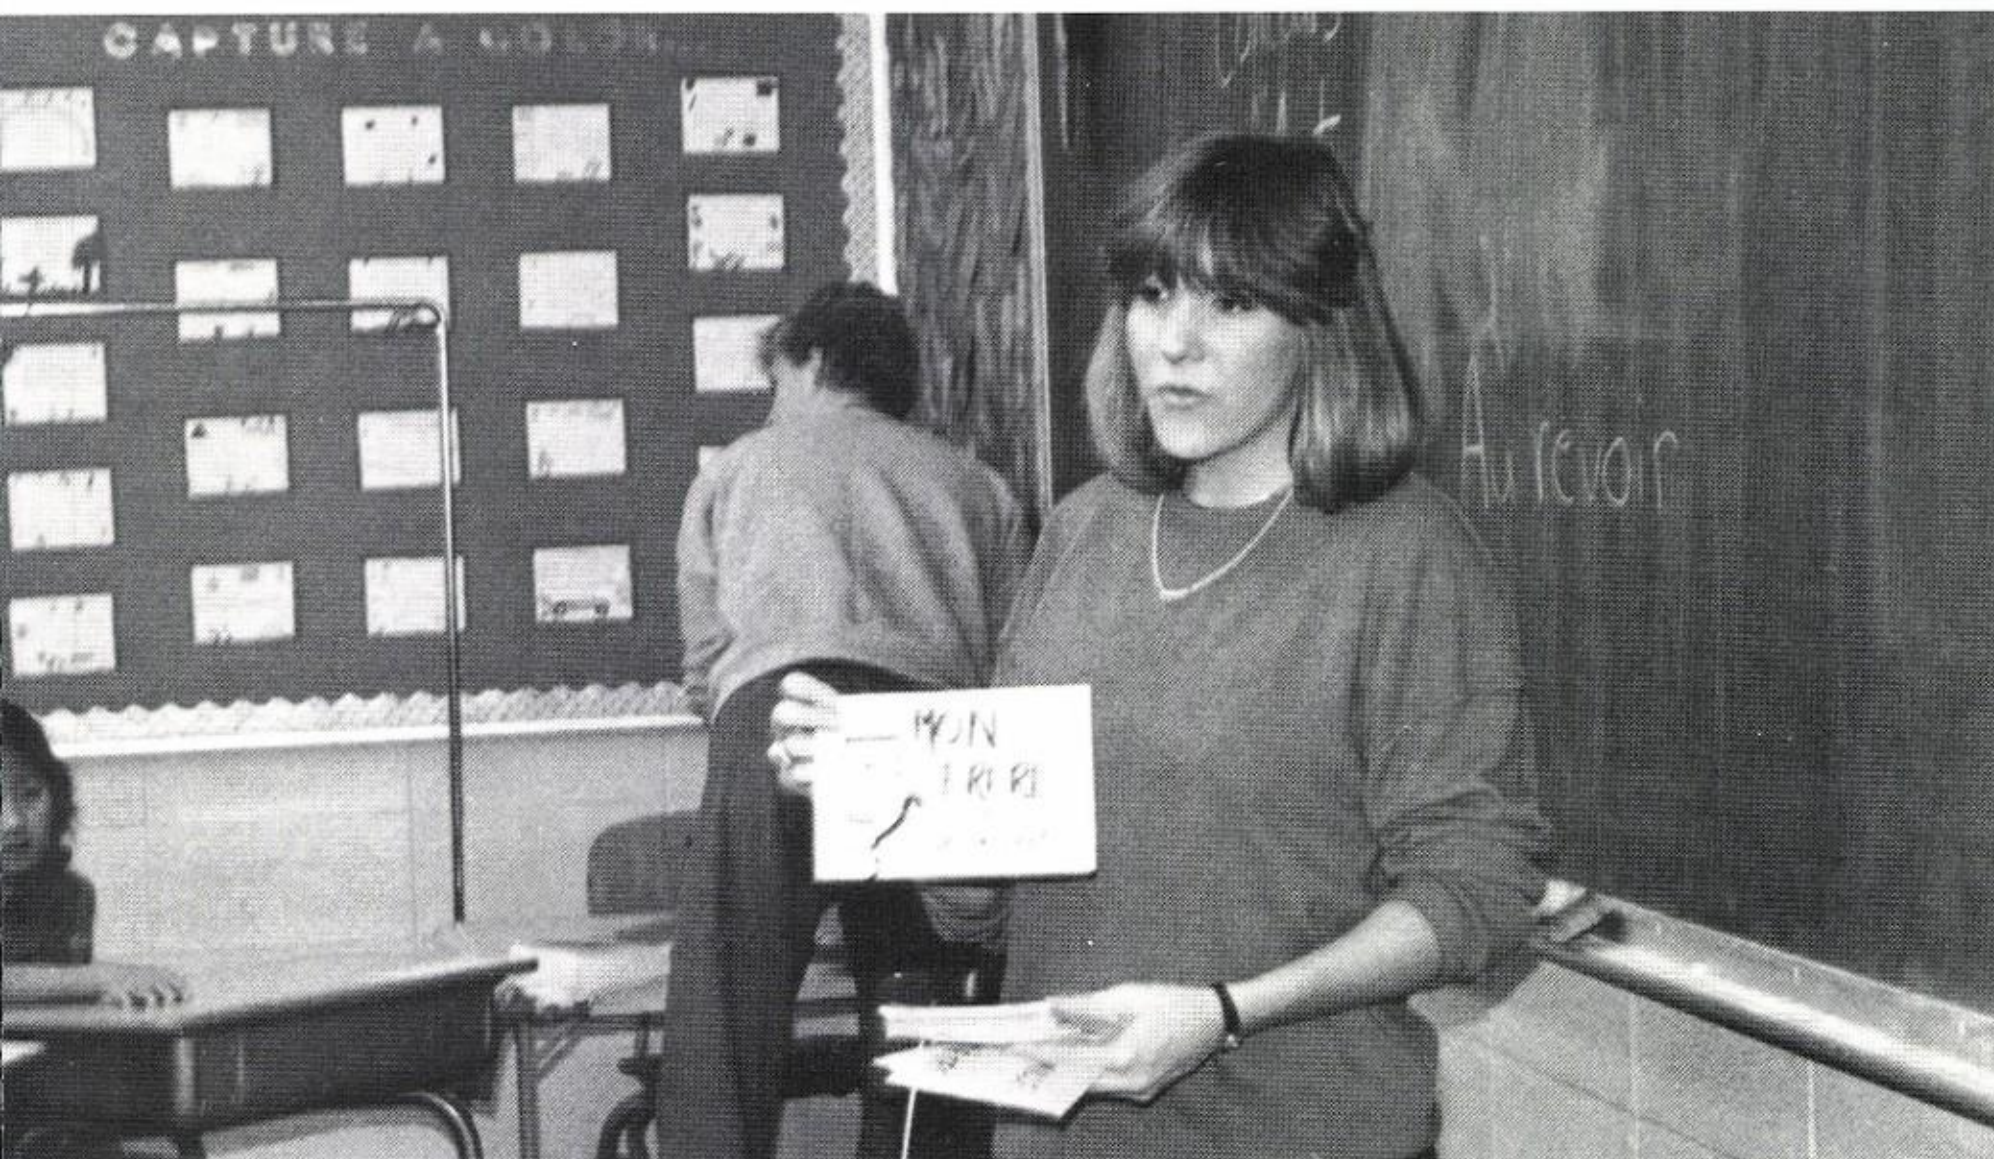

New equipment included a listening station in the library, which provided extra listening and oral skills.

Bodily Moves

Physical Education is a world in itself giving the student a break from classroom atmosphere and academic strains.

Slipping into those chic gym suits, students participated in a variety of activities from aerobics to wiffleball; and by the time Friday rolled around, their gym suits had taken on an "air" of their own.

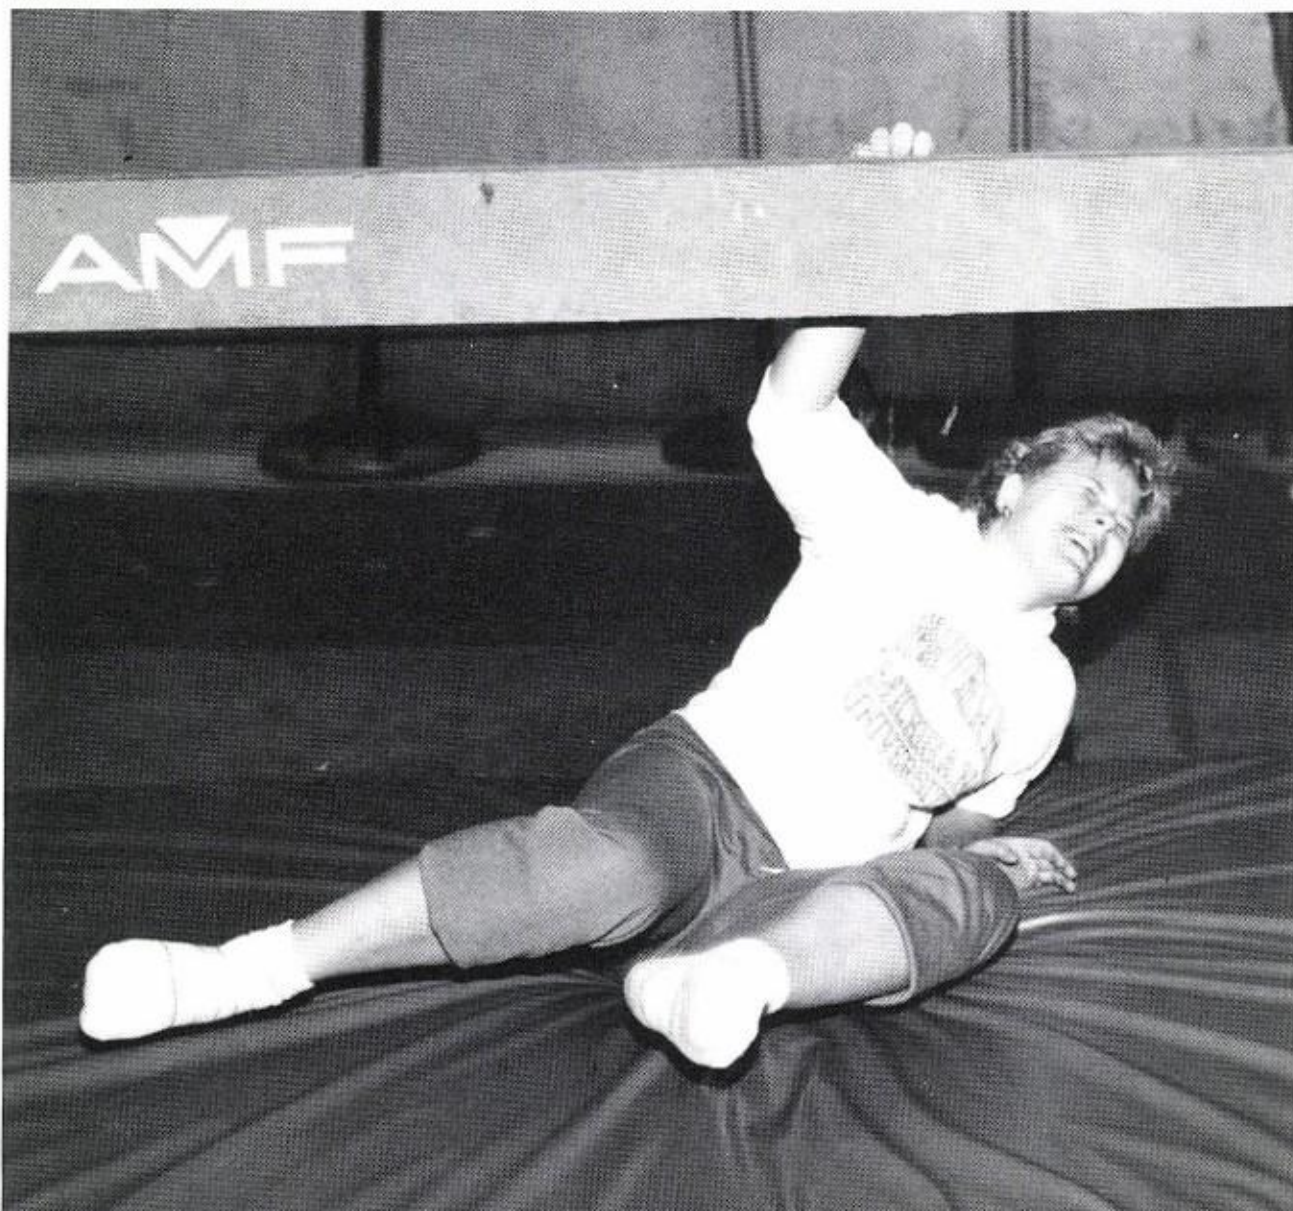

Cross-country skiing was briefly touched upon as a new activity before the December 20 fire. The Gurnee Park District and the school district furnished twenty-five pairs of skis which were used by students at Gowe Memorial park.

Moving to the Lake Forest High School West Campus, a.k.a. Warren South, physical education was colder and less involved than at Warren North. First aid, team sports such as volleyball and basketball were the only activities available.

"Life Skills"

Home Economics or better put, "life skills," is a very important course, perhaps the most important course a student can take. With a variety of areas, sewing, cooking, living for singles, or childcare, students compiled a notebook of helpful hints they acquired through the year to be used in the future, such as how to sew a hem, or prepare a nice inexpensive meal.

Advanced Meal classes took a trip to the supermarket for comparative consumer shopping, and Sewing classes went to Minnesota Fabrics to choose material for their projects.

A new club was formed, the Future Homemakers of America, and it consisted of five members when it began. The club competed in local, district and state conventions. The members made posters or set up displays on specific topics such as nutrition, or how to prepare a nice relish tray.

Thanks to Home Economics, pockets will snap, eggs won't run, and your baby brother's legs won't turn blue when you apply his diaper.

How's it Work?

Somewhere down the road, no matter where, everybody is going to own a house, a car, and there's going to be a broken lawn mower to deal with as well. Learning how these things work and how they can be repaired will save time and money when the problems arise.

With the decrease in enrollment in the Industrial Arts department, a committee of five including the four instructors and Mr. Craig Hiatt, focused on implementing the Illinois plan. This plan was an attempt to widen the horizon of the entire Industrial Arts spectrum.

Only two percent of the Industrial Arts department were made up of girls. "With more women living on their own, Industrial Arts is an important course for girls as well as boys," stressed Mr. Richard Flaker.

The Zeal for Wheels

What might look like a pile of scrap metal to a bystander may be the prettiest thing in the world to its owner. The power of possession tends to alter the looks of things when they're our own. But of course one must also possess a license to drive that beautiful pile of scrap metal. That's where Drivers Education steps, or rather, rolls in.

However, Drivers Ed. is more than getting that long awaited for license. It's learning how to drive and, in some cases, when to drive.

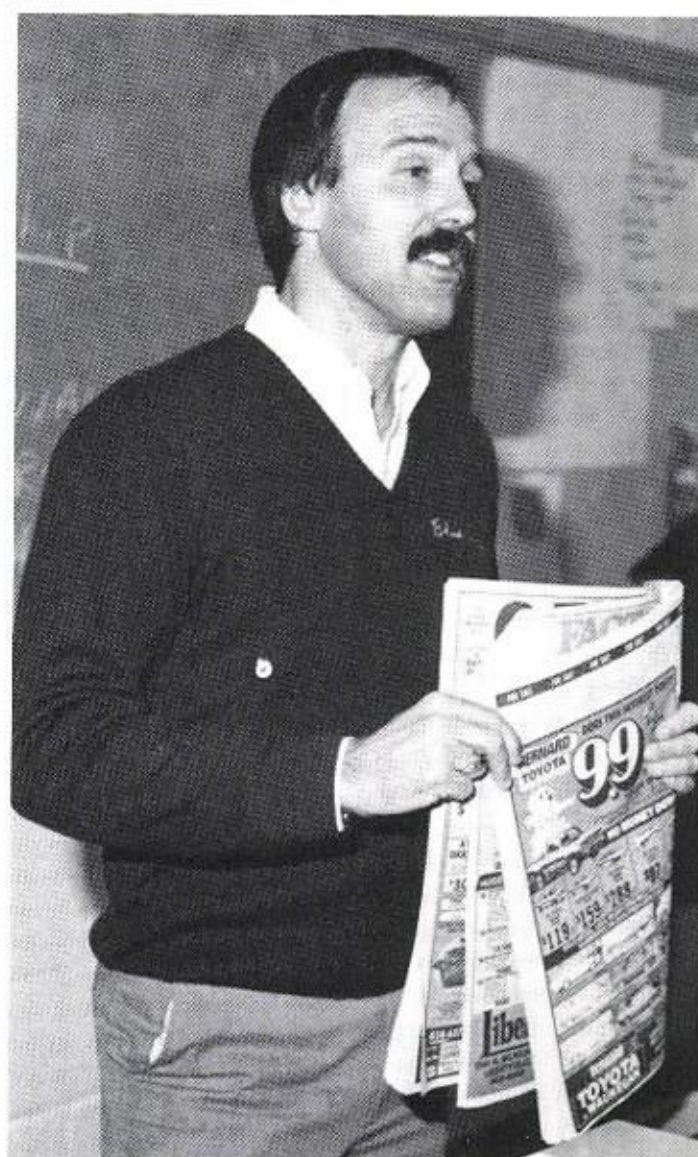

Video tapes on parts of the car and the perils of drinking and driving were viewed in the classroom. Students tested their depth perception, reaction time, and other visual activities with psycho-physical testing equipment in addition to behind-the-wheel training.

MUSIC

The Band Gets Movin'

The marching Blue Devils stepped into another season with one week of band camp in August. The band practiced at school for eight hours a day in pouring rain and scorching heat. For some, band camp was seeing friends that had not been seen all summer. For others, it was the torture of pouring rain and scorching heat. For all, it was hard work and determination to learn the show.

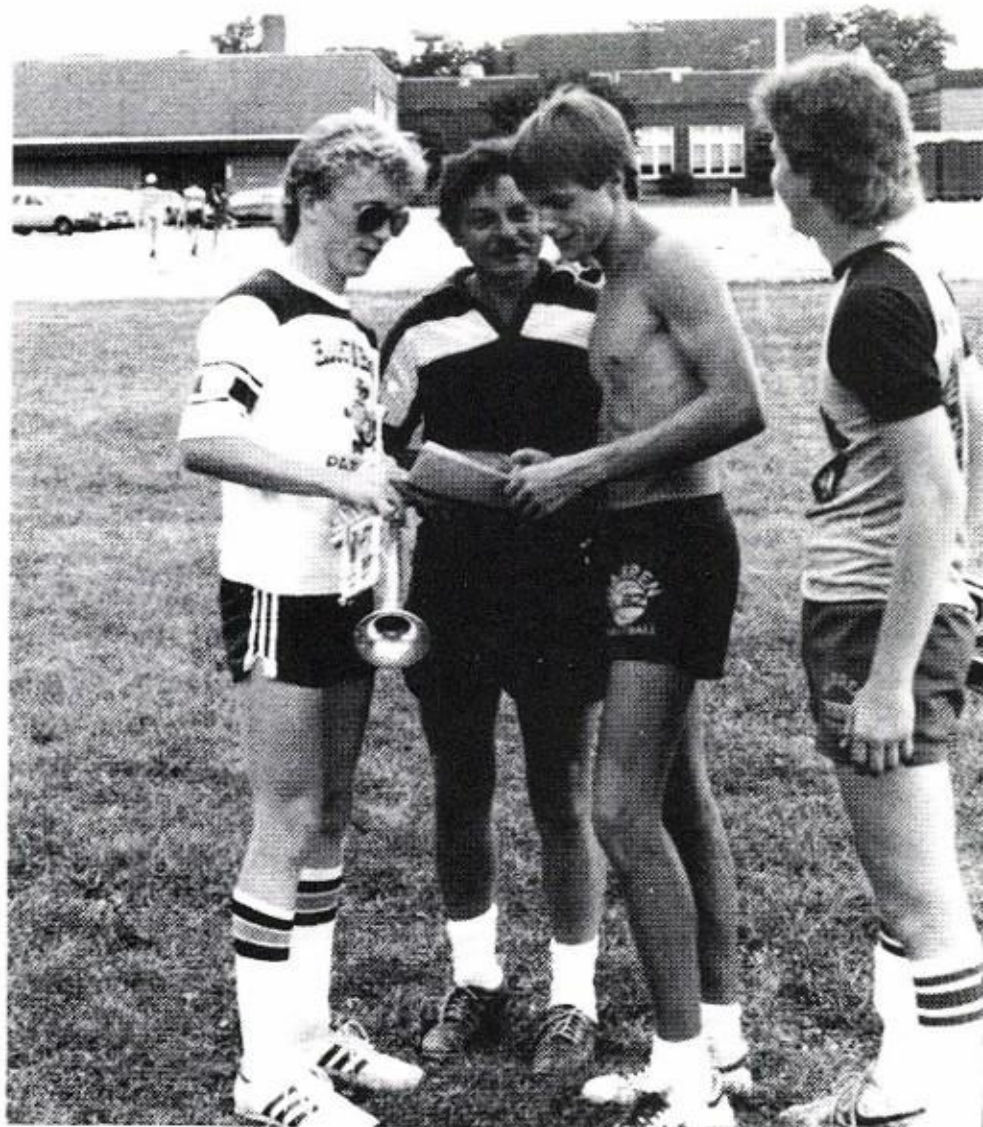

The group split into sections every morning to practice music and flagwork and then combined in the afternoon on the field to practice the show. The musicians learned only two songs of the three song show at band camp; "Costa Del Sol" conducted by Dan Kerpan, and "Malaguena" conducted by Chris Eustace. The students practiced both songs a great deal, but only learned the marching portion to "Costa Del Sol." The band learned the song slowly so everyone could understand the mechanics of the show.

Once school started, the band practiced an hour and a half each day. The band members learned the marching portion of "Malaguena" in the first few weeks. They also donated some of their extra time by practicing two nights in September and one in October for two and a half hours, a change from past years when the band practiced every Monday night.

A third song, "The Right Stuff," had to be learned for the Chicagoland marching festival. Mr. Braa rearranged and shortened the song so the show wouldn't go over the time limit at contests. Kris Nudo directed "The Right Stuff," thought to be a very effective closing number.

Band: Not Just a Class But an Adventure

It is a winter Sunday morning in Gurnee. Things are very still, for it is still before the dawn. The stillness is broken for a moment as squirrel gallops gently across O'Plaine Road. The squirrel stops on the road for a moment to scratch behind its ear. Then, a great roaring is heard, the squirrel pauses, then darts toward the nearest bush. Birds flock out of the trees, lights in houses come on and the pre-dawn stillness is harshly broken. What is this great noise? Is it nuclear war? Strange aliens landing nearby? Did the Rustic Manor explode? What could it be? Not to worry—it's only the Warren band truck rumbling down the road with its precious cargo of band helmets. This noise is later followed by a caravan of cars coming to the school to drop off band members.

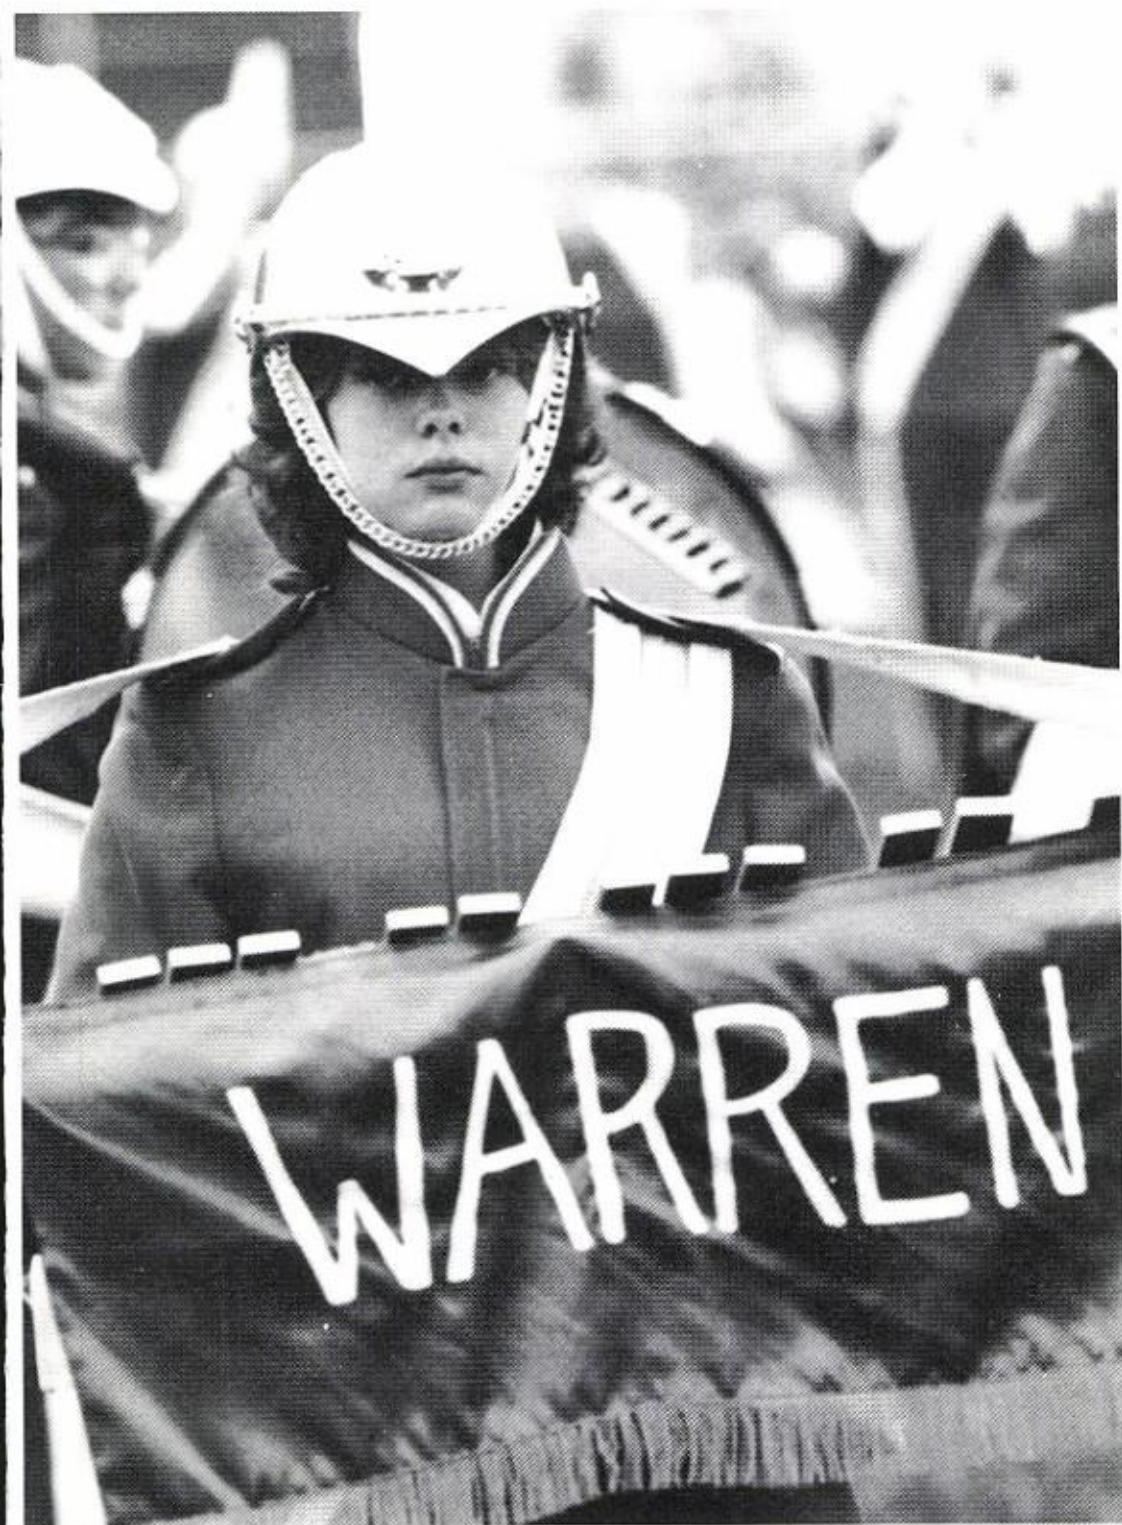

The Marching Blue Devils perform under all conditions, from marching in ninety degree heat for the Gurnee Days Parade to doing halftime shows in the sub-zero weather for the NFL.

The first performance for the marching was the half-time show for the opening home game. Unfortunately, the show was cancelled because it was raining. So, the band was without performance practice when the first contest at Northwestern University rolled around on September 15. The group was the only band competing in the Class A division, so it was easily won. The "Pride of Lake County" then placed second in its division in a close competition of the Chicagoland Marching Festival at Wheeling H.S. on September 29. Warren took second with a score of 51.25 (Crete-Monee edged the Blue Devils with a score of 51.55). The competition season ended with the North Suburband Conference Marching Festival on October 16 at Niles North. Although the festival was not judged, the marching bands of the conference participated.

The band then traveled to Chicago's Soldier Field and Green Bay's Lambeau Field on Nov. 18 and Dec. 2, respectively. Although the marching band has played for the Bears before, this is the first time they had played a regular season game. A Bear official was quoted as saying, "Warren's band is one out of two high school bands that are to be invited to play half-time shows during the regular season."

The highlight of the band season had to be the trip to Florida. It was an action-packed week of good times over spring break. Playing at Disneyworld and spending time on the Gulf Coast was truly an experience that the whole band will never forget.

Symphonically Speaking

The concert band season began with Mr. Braa testing all the students on their instruments so he could divide the band into two groups. Whether the bands were called Wind Ensemble or "basketball band", Symphonic band (alias "other" band) students were on the move in their respective groups. Scheduling problems at Lake Forest prevented the formation of a third band for beginners as in past years. It seemed like the whole music program was in jeopardy after the fire. When things got going though, band rehearsal resumed.

Dave "doc" Sampson had this to say about the lower band: "Being in Symphonic Band is good and bad in many ways. Good because it helps you learn and advance on your instrument. Bad because everyone wants to be in wind ensemble." Chris Eustace found Wind Ensemble "Challenging. Mr. Braa always pushed us to our limits by giving us difficult music to play."

A bright spot in the difficulties the band had this year was the admittance of three people to the all-district band. Kris Nudo, contra bass clarinet; Chris Eustace, trumpet and Dave Ryan, trombone all made it. Kris Nudo then represented the band well by making it to all-state band. Having band in lecture and drama rooms made the rehearsals seem strange. Nonetheless, the band survived a potentially catastrophic experience.

A Little Jazz Action

The Warren jazz program is widely recognized as one of the best in Illinois. The program is divided into three jazz bands; Jazz Ensemble, Jazz Lab 2 and Jazz Lab 3. Having three jazz bands is to our advantage considering most schools only have one group if a group at all. Having its own scheduled period, Jazz Ensemble got started right away. Ensemble had a good year and scored very high at all the contests. Plus, Dave Ryan made it to all-district band to put the icing on the Jazz Ensemble cake.

The two labs started rehearsing after marching season. They had only about one month and only had the opportunity to perform at the Christmas concert before the fire. Having to go to school in split shifts, labs two and three were transformed into junior-senior, frosh-soph labs. The frosh-soph lab met before their classes at Warren North. The junior-senior lab met upon arriving back in Gurnee after the regular school day. The upperclassmen in Jazz Ensemble stayed at Lake Forest an extra period to rehearse. All through the day, the jazz program was definitely on the move.

In the Beginning . . .

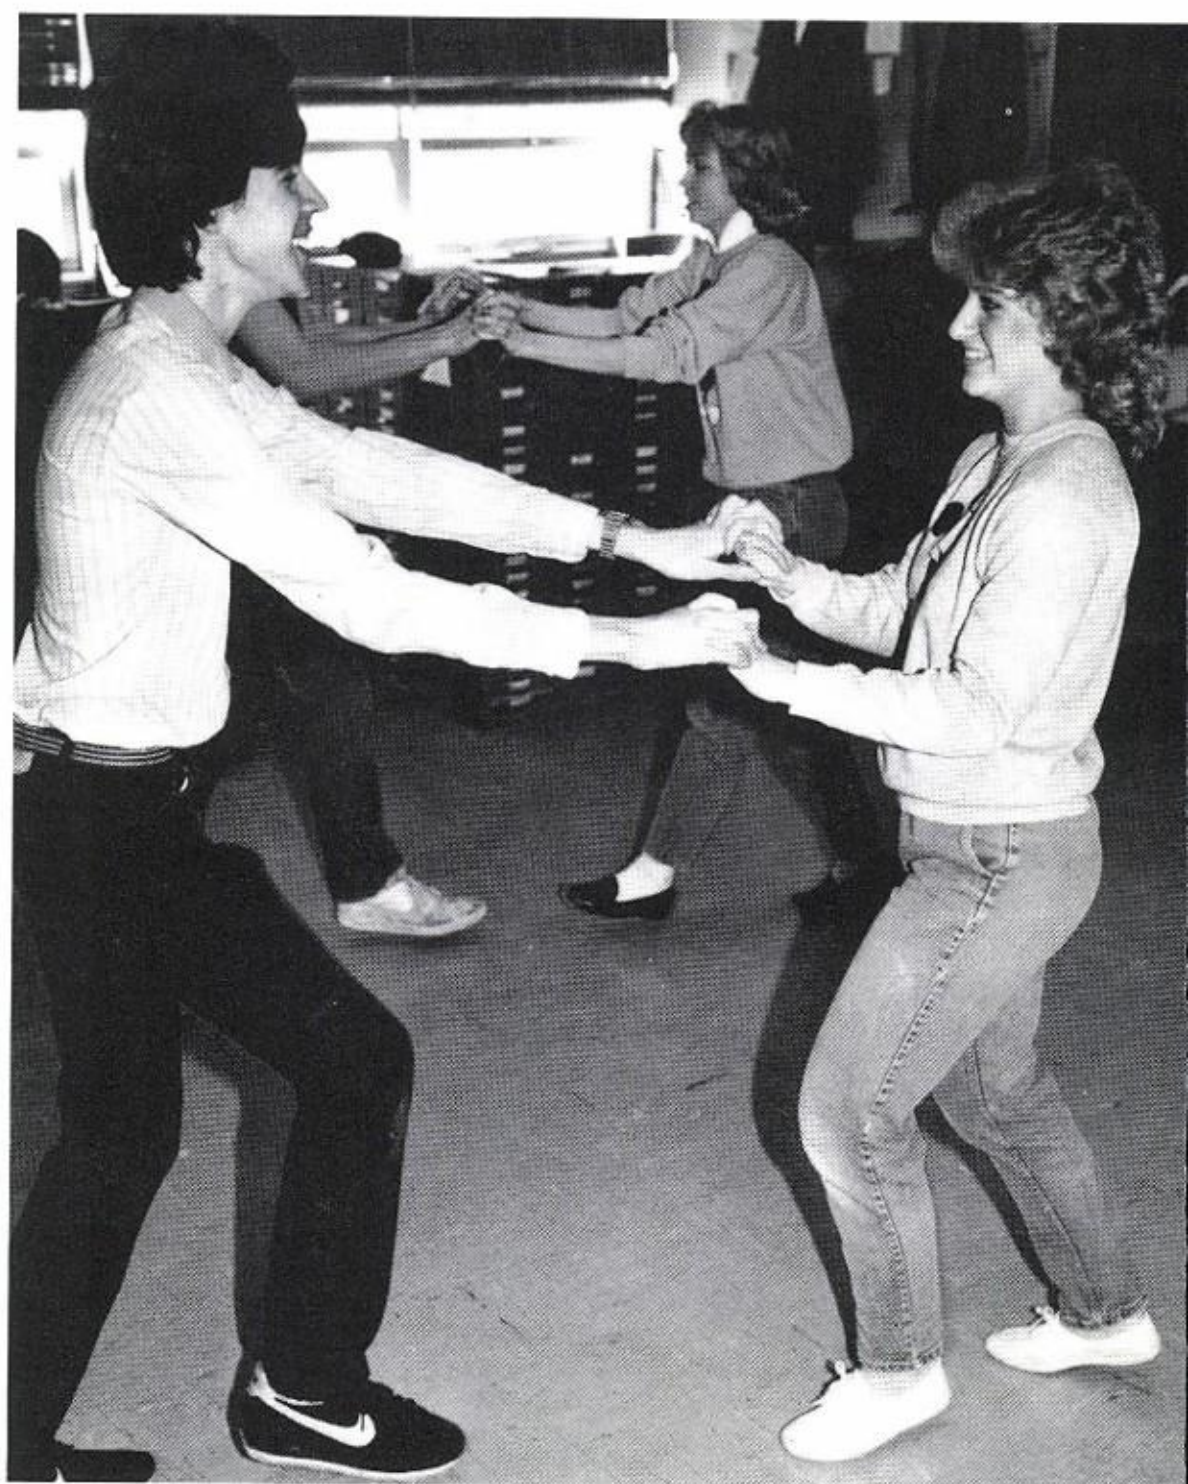

To have such an outstanding Concert Choir, Folksingers and Treble Choir, you need lower groups to train the underclassmen. Varsity Singers and Freshman Choir are these groups. Varsity Singers is open to all classes but this year was unusual because the entire group was freshmen. After the fire, all the sophomore boys in Concert Choir had to be moved into the Varsity Singers due to the fact that Concert Choir rehearsed in the morning.

Freshman Choir is an all girls choir and being all freshmen was the least affected of all the choirs by the fire. Tabatha Smejkal said this about Freshman Choir. "I definitely think it was harder trying to learn new material with the shorter periods . . ." She also described the group as having, "Good potential, we'll pretty much stay as a group next year which will help us work together better. I also think Mr. Myren is a great teacher." The lower choirs are the keys to maintaining the success of all the choirs in the turbulent future of the music department.

High Hopes for Choirs

After being in Varsity Singers or Freshman Choir, you then progress into the polished higher choirs. Treble Choir is open to all sophomore, junior and senior girls. According to Mr. Myren, "This year's Treble Choir was the best I've ever had before the fire." The fire caused the removal of 18 girls. Terry Schlicht one of the remaining members said "I enjoyed singing in the choir, although it's too bad we lost so many people. We could've been alot better."

The highest group of all is Concert Choir. You must audition and entrance is only allowed with Mr. Myren's say-so. Because of the small number of seniors this year, the group turned out to be the smallest Mr. Myren's ever had. As with many other groups though, the move to Lake Forest hurt Concert Choir a great deal. "The upper choir was hurt very badly . . ." said the choir director. "We lost the entire tenor section and also had to cancel a weekend trip to Luther College in Iowa where we were invited by Dr. Weston Noble to attend a clinic."

Kim Coke said this about the highest choir, "It was good until the school burned. It (Concert Choir) just wasn't the same because we had to take in so many upperclassmen from the lower choirs."

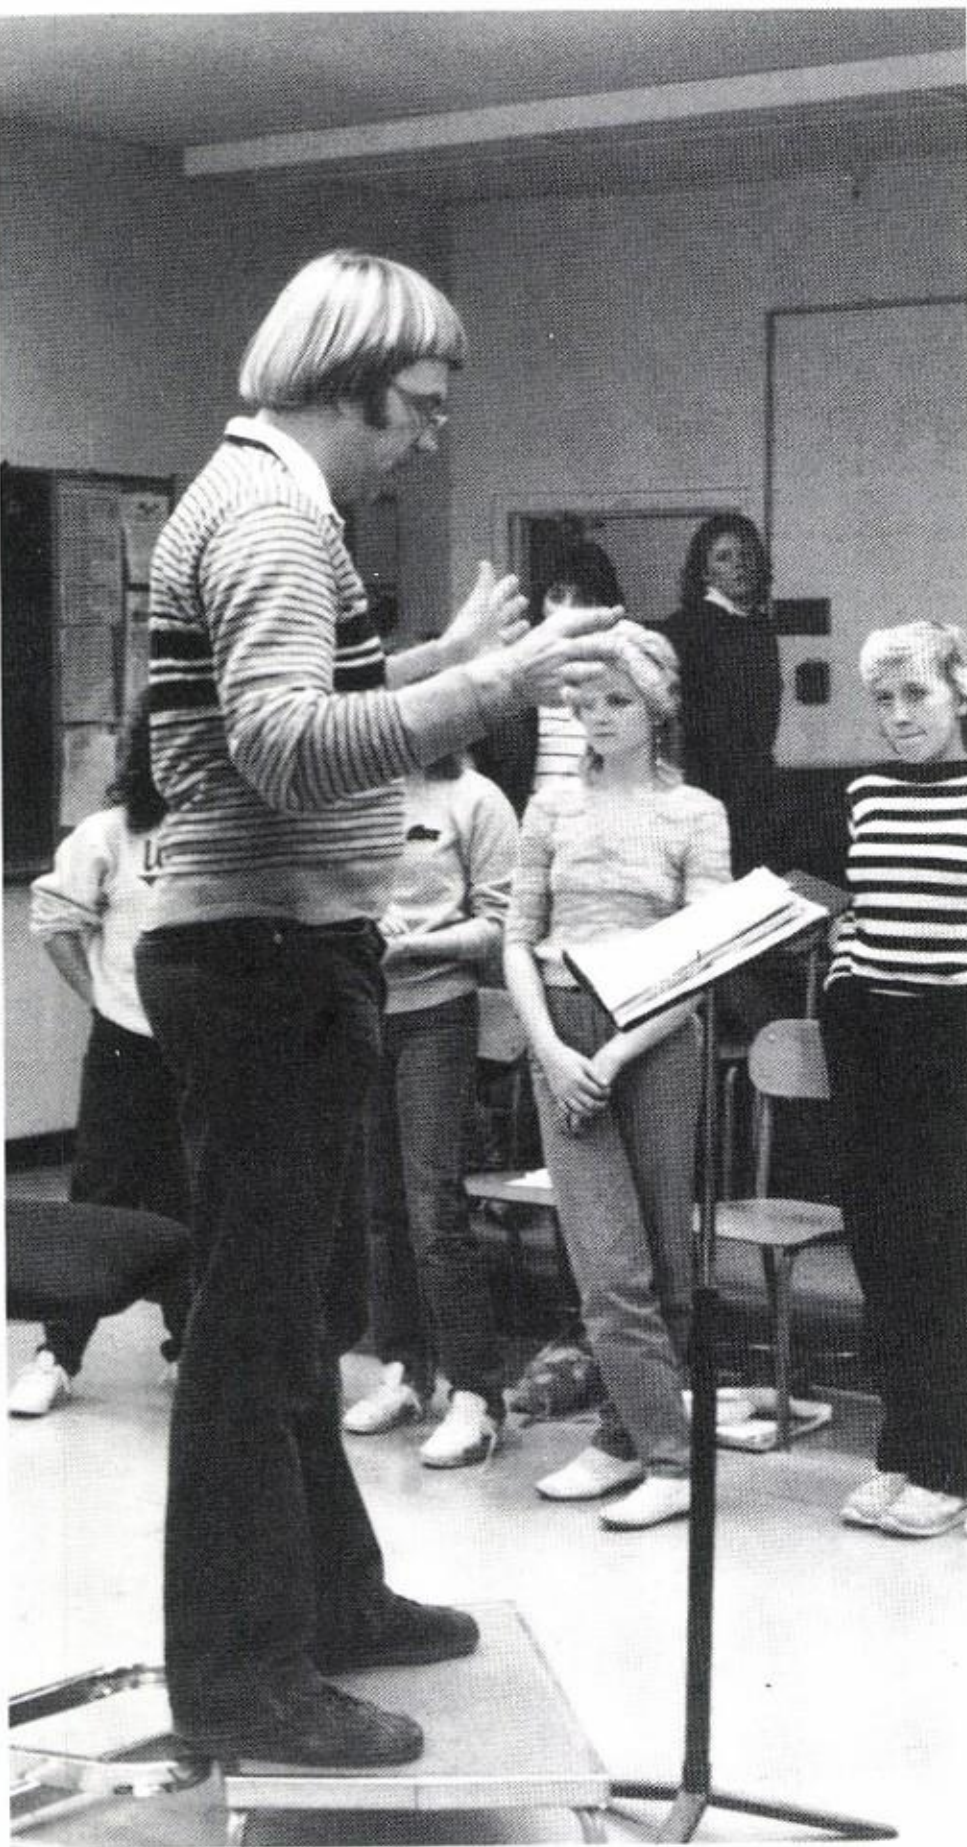

Last but certainly not the least of the choirs is the Folksingers. Folksingers is a small group containing 14 people and a piano player. Like Concert Choir, Folksingers was the smallest ever. "We weren't as hard hit as the other choirs . . ." said Chuck Blythe, "plus, being a smaller group we accomplished much more."

A highlight of the choirs this year was the number of people to make it to the all-district choir. Kim Kernes, Sandy Montague, Lynn Plutz, Krisi Van Houtum, Kim Coke, Sharon Rudd, Julie Steepleton, Debbie Winkler, Russ Lein, Phil Young, Steve Albert, Chris Knight and Chris Mohalley all represented the school proudly. Also, Sandy Montague, Terri Pratt, Sharon Rudd, Debbie Winkler, Phil Young, Jim Crary, Steve Albert, Steve Mobile and Don Haapala all made it to the all-conference choir.

Ripped apart and drained of members, the students in the high choirs will have a hard time forgetting the 84-85 school year.

Movin' Down the Yellow Brick Road

"We're off to see the Wizard, the wonderful Wizard of Oz." This line of music ran through the minds of people leaving the gym after seeing the spring musical. Over one thousand people saw "The Wizard of Oz" on April 27, 28, and May 4 or 5. The motivated cast of over seventy worked hard on the production that was organized and directed by Music Theory class. Margaret Albert directed the musical portion. Jeannie Beamis was the student director, and Kathy Schlicht held the position of assistant director. Whether you were in the audience, or in the production itself, "The Wizard of Oz" was truly a MOVING experience.

CLUBS

Making New Moves

With the majority of the staff being rookies, the yearbook staff faced a year full of deadlines, typing, work-a-thons, and floor hockey games.

The staff went on ad campaigns for three days and visited University of Whitewater for various types of production seminars.

Mr. Bill Chapin, the rookie advisor, said, "I will not make any changes in the yearbook style of doing things. I just want to keep things going."

News By Computer

One of the many new changes in Scratch Paper was the purchase of a computer for the staff. This computer was used to send finished copy to the printer by way of a device called a modem. Another change that took place was the change in the layout size. This year's paper was larger than before and contained a performing arts section with photo essays. And finally, a new office was built to accommodate the computer and its modem.

A main reason that these changes took place was to achieve the goal of "becoming the best high school newspaper in the state, nation, universe," according to editor-in-chief Don DeGrazia.

Inner World Comes Alive

With half of last year's members returning to kick off the new school year, Creations easily found new students to fill the remaining positions, with many students still on a waiting list.

Creations' purpose is to provide a club for talented literary and artistic students. Sponsor Mrs. Dee Johnson and editor Ian Vasquez feel that athletically and musically talented students in the school are not the only ones with talent.

The theme for this year's book is "Life Along the Candle Wick." The cost to the student was $2.50 but the actual production cost was $6.00. The club makes up the difference of the cost by having fund-raisers throughout the year.

Many hours of late night work by candle light helped to produce this year's collection of students' writing and art work.

Speech Team: On the Go

Throughout the year Speech Team works for the ultimate goal, the Scoties Tournament (a tournament of champions).

This year speech team consisted of 48 members with Mr. John Davis as sponsor. Their main goal was to develop communications skills and to familiarize students with various forms of literature.

The team had more members than ever before, yet there was still room for more expansion. The problem with this was the shortage of sponsors. If they had had more sponsors, more time could have been spent with each member.

Jennifer Jones and Lynn Stickler (Co-captains) led the team as experienced speech team members.

Quill & Scroll

This year's 1984-85 Quill & Scroll Honorary Society got off to a writing start! This is an honorary society in which you must earn membership. This takes place nationwide, but has only recently been renewed at Warren in 1983.

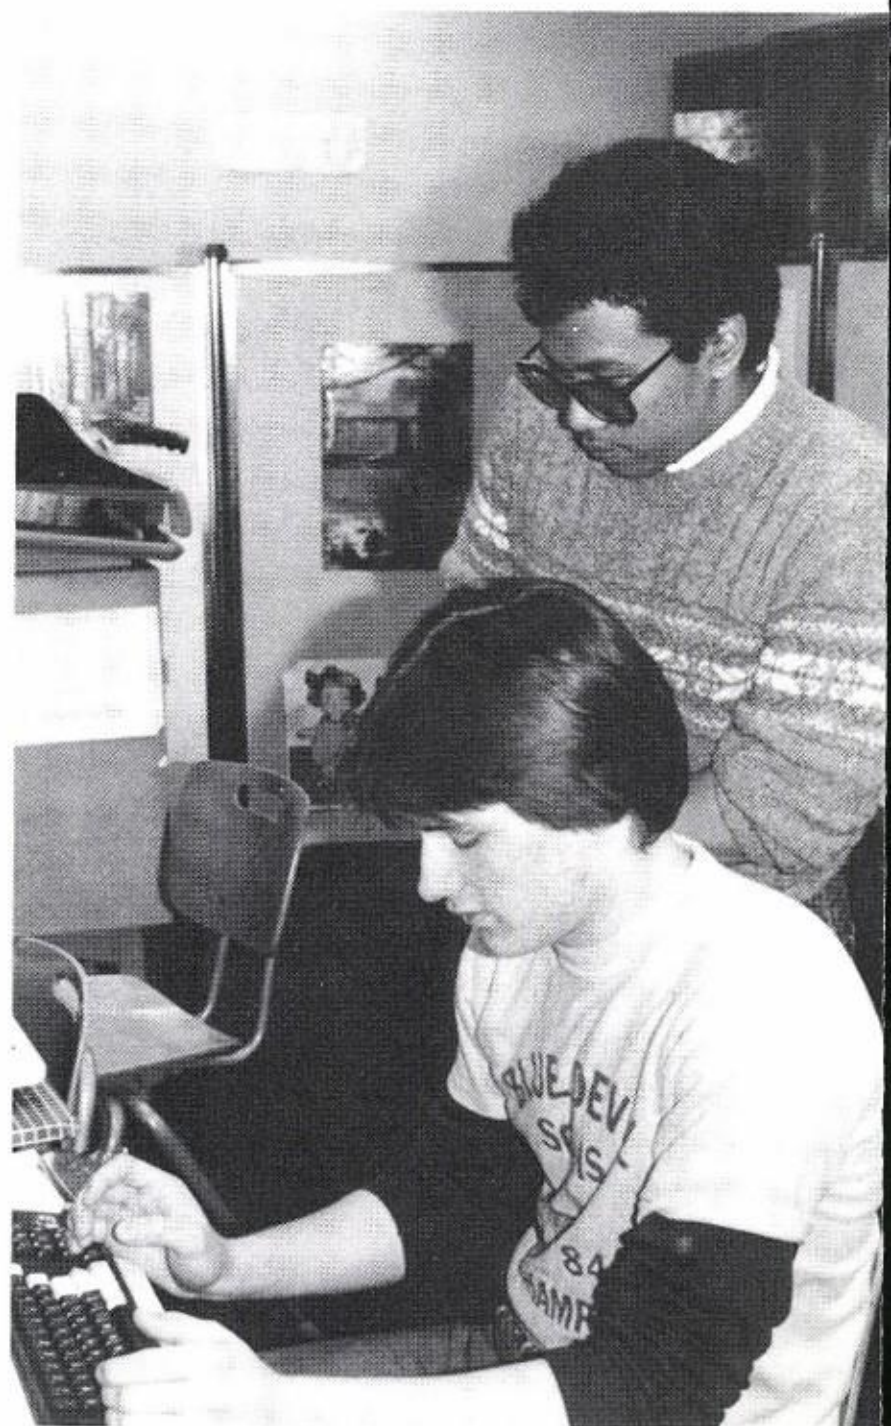

An initiation ceremony took place at Warren (North) in which candles were ceremoniously lighted and roses and pins were given each member. A scroll was given to outstanding students. Wendy Johnson is the only current 2 year member. Then they proceeded to the Marriott Lincolnshire to have dinner and view a musical.

Requirements for Quill & Scroll are junior or senior status and the candidate's achieving of the upper third of his class. He must also have been outstanding journalist and have held an editorial position. This society greatly helps a senior going for a writing scholarship. Mrs. Titcomb, Mrs. Johnson, and Mr. Chapin are all sponsors for this well-earned honor society.

National Honor Society

National Honor Society elected academically inclined junior students with a grade point average of 3.25 or better into this national organization for seniors.

This year National Honor Society consisted of 48 members with Mr. John Davis as sponsor. Their main goal was to tutor other students who voluntarily came for help in various subjects.

Those who participated in this club were not only academically proficient, but also offered service to the community, possessed leadership skills, and exhibited good qualities of character.

FCA's Dedication

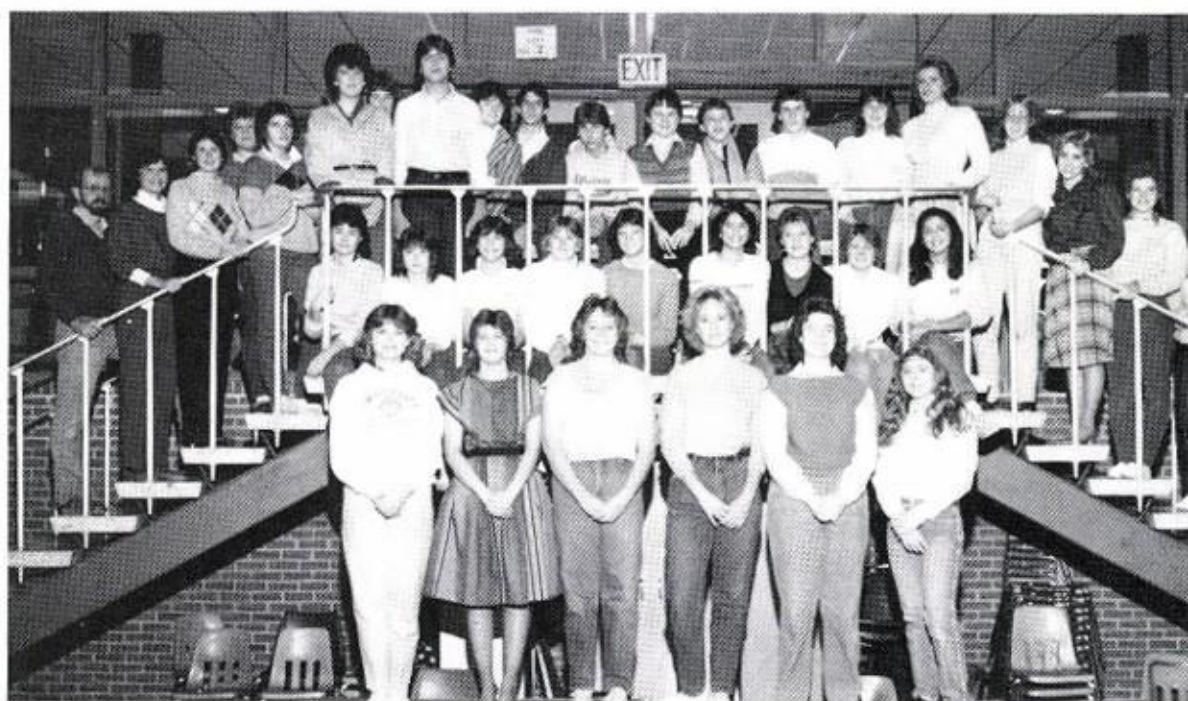

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes teaches you how to be a better person and eliminate bad habits. Sponsored by Mr. Don Haugh, about 20 male athletes got together in fellowship and talked about how God affected them. With no girls FCA, due to lack of a sponsor, the club still got involved. During Homecoming, a float was created—a giant bible with a cross laid upon it—and also a jog-a-thon, which proved to be a refresher for the heart, mind and soul.

FBLA Leads On

Giving students a chance to "get involved in" and "react to" the business world, FBLA became, again, a popular club. With gym and sweat suits a major part of fund-raising, the club's business was booming! Leading the leaders was president Laurie Vance, vice-presidents Lance Richards and Debbie Reuss. Lonna Miller was secretary; Vandel Adams, treasurer; and Tammy Minogue acted as reporter. Business teachers Joe Stephenitch, Sue Walker, and Chris Roberts advised the club with their first-hand knowledge.

Council Moves

Student Council consisted of 105 members, with Josh Good as President, Dawn Edwards as Vice-President and Mr. Gaylord Strahan as sponsor. Their main goal was to bring together the administration, faculty and students through different activities.

Experimenting with new ideas brought about Winter Homecoming, Video Yearbook and a monthly magazine put out by the students.

They met every day 8th hour and attended many workshops held at different schools and capital cities in the U.S.

Student Council held many fund raisers throughout the year so they could raise money for all the dances and other activities for the students.

The Big Thrill

They screamed "We want a touchdown, we want a touchdown, we want a touchdown now!" at the top of their lungs and begged for some living from the crowds with "W-W." "They" were the football cheerleaders of 1984-85, who brought Warren to varnished victory and through depressing defeat. The thrill of the Friday night game was enhanced by signs drawn by the 'spirit leaders', featuring prayers or Trivial Pursuit questions. When the 20 girls weren't dressed up as the players, they were baking cookies and bought each player Homecoming half-t-shirts. Captain and MVP last year, Karin Lawrence said it's all done because "we love the crowds and the guys!"

Hear the Rafters Ring

Meeting in the gym two times a week to stretch, jump around during aerobics and doing weird things with rubber bands is what the 1984-85 basketball cheerleaders did for fun. The girls, once again, got into the players groove presenting a mock basketball game where the referees were typically 'blind as a bat'. Performing were the "Bambettes" and their notorious cheer 'Wham-Bam'. The varsity squad also participated in the journey to DeKalb, where they continued to spirit the players and the crowd.

Devilish Moves Take 3rd

"Kick 2-3-4, turn 2-3-4." These were the sounds heard when the 1984-85 Devilettes started their first practice last summer.

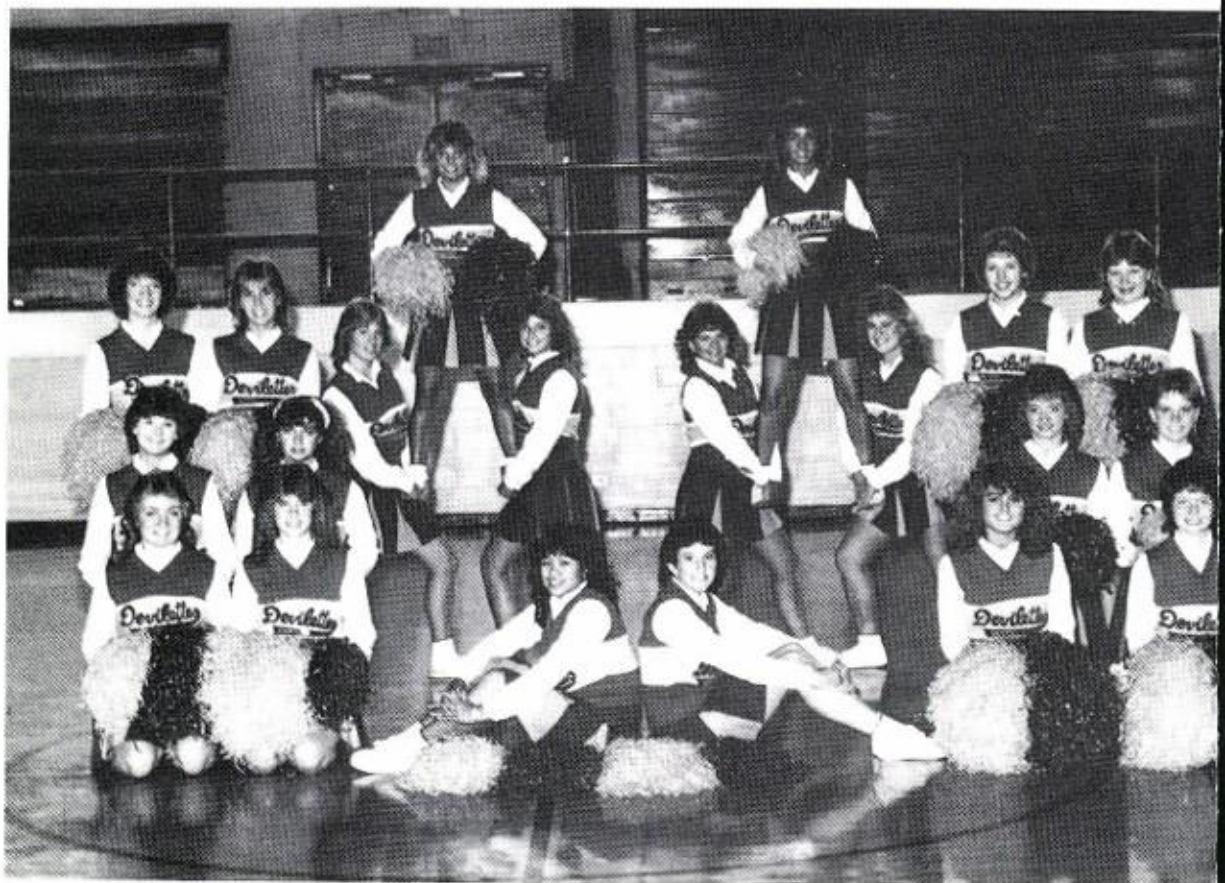

The Devilettes attended a 4 day camp at the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater last summer and earned a 3rd place award in overall competition. They also attended a clinic in November, where they absorbed even more ideas for incredibly creative routines.

The appointed captain for the year was Lisa Wilcox, assisted by co-captains Amy Schmits and Ann Wachowiak. The sponsors this year were Mrs. Barb Nohr and Mrs. Sheila Hoekstra.

Captured Moves

Without the realization of the team, the stat girls played an important part of the teams this year.

Some of the sports this year that were covered by stat girls were football, wrestling, soccer, tennis, and baseball.

The stat girls kept the individual records of the team to be looked back on in the future as a record of achievement, and to aid the coaches in future games.

Whether it was a tackle, a take down, a shot on goal, a faulty serve, or a strike out, the stat girls caught and recorded the action.

Strategic Moves

Behind closed doors, Chess Club met 5-days a week, instead of their usual Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, giving them a "permanent home."

One goal chess club had was to compete with other schools. However, due to the lack of students who were able to stay at 3:30 and other schools being unable to compete, because of "financial difficulties," chess club has yet to fulfill this goal.

Mrs. Mona Florio really enjoyed being sponsor, because she loved playing the game herself. With her help the club stayed together through all their strategic moves.

Imaginary Moves

Surviving only on a vast imagination, the ten member Dungeons and Dragons Club was one club whose membership increased, and with that did the creativity flow.

Mrs. Marsha Mann, sponsor of the club, furnished a room every Wednesday for the club's secret passage ways.

Realizing the many risks with each role and game piece, each D & D player felt the challenges and danger of dark corners and twisted stairs was worth the approximate cost of $72, all spent on game equipment.

This year's D & D club planned nothing more than enjoying the mysterious challenge of Dungeons and Dragons.

Downhill Attempts

The slopes were ready, yet this year's Ski Club was slow getting established, and once it was, only a few trips were taken. Due to the problems of transportation, because of the school relocation, the club was basically inactive. Last minute sponsors, Mr. Mike Bly and Mrs. Fran Maurath felt many students were interested but the club couldn't pick its feet up. With an estimate of 80 students who manned their skies, Ski Club was a chance to show the snow!

Club Computes

"I am your computer—I am your slave." Oddly enough, computers aren't slaves, but they are at your command. The 20 members of the computer club normally spent an hour after school on Thursday, to create games and programs. Sponsors Esther Keefauver and Dick Richey, president Payman Parastaran and vice-president Chris Velkover helped the club "space over" and pull the "strings" to "enter" many designs for the holiday grams offered to students through the year.

For next year, computer club hopes to take in a RND amount of students who find computing an interesting challenge.

Language Clubs Better Than Ever

The first annual Christmas stocking sale with messages in 6 different languages and selling of Unicef cards helped the French Club host exchange students in March.

"La Vie de France" was the setting for this year's french feast in which French Club or French Class students could attend to eat their favorite French food.

With 16 members and sponsor Miss Washer, the parties and fieldtrips were great and it was a good chance for the club members to practice their French and have a great time.

Even though the Gingerbread houses were destroyed in the fire, the German Club still had fun making them.

The Christmas party, held at German Club member Kathy Simmons house was a total success.

If softball is your game, the German Club is quite good at it. They beat the French and Spanish Clubs combined, during and after school softball game.

Sponsor Karl Matzen combined with club members, German Club is a unique experience.

Fun, fun, fun is what this year's Spanish club was all about! There had been many accomplishments, memorable moments, and many worthwhile causes for being in Spanish Club.

Brad Champine, president, Patti Rockwell, vice-president, and sponsor, Mr. Phillip Raywood worked hard to make the Spanish Club a fun experience.

"They have had many accomplishments," Mr. Raywood said. "They've had a successful Christmas party, broke a pinata, went bowling, and had a fun softball game with the German, and French.

Mr. Raymond said that the Spanish Club increases the members' knowledge of the Spanish people.

The Spanish Club usually meets after school and best of all . . . you only have to be in a Spanish Class to be a member.

Just Exchange It

Junior Exchange was the club that worked mostly out of school yet still acted with the school. Sponsored by Mr. Bill Souza, the group worked with the community to upgrade it, as when they purchased a tree to put up by the visitor parking lot, and conducted a welcoming for it, wrote replys to children who had written to the Gurnee Post Office addressed to Santa, and created the mitten-tree that featured outerwear to give to a abused children's center. Also, monthly, they chose a senior who had shown good citizenship.

Sound Moves

"Warren's First and Only all Request, All Dedication Radio Station, WOWF," was the vocal logo cafeteria diners came to know well this year. From the 100 or more daily requests placed in the library box, the newly formed club chose selections ranging from heavy metal to easy listening and announced school activities during each of the four lunch periods. Jerry Kitterman, Recording Mgr. for WOWF stated the club goal as "giving the people what they want to hear, instead of what Chicago or Milwaukee thinks they should hear."

To get the sounds from the old English hall to the cafeteria was no easy task. After finding an adviser and the space for their broadcast booth, club members strung wire through the second floor, down an outer wall and back into the building, above the ceiling into the cafeteria. Club members contributed turntables, tape decks, tapes, LP's, and hours of their time and energy correcting volume problems and spinning tunes for their lunch hour listeners.

To buy its own equipment, and in hopes of securing its own FM transmitter, the club sold bumper stickers and held a DJ dance. Miss Judy Frank, adviser for WOWF, expressed her admiration for club members' initiative in founding this new club.

Future Homemakers

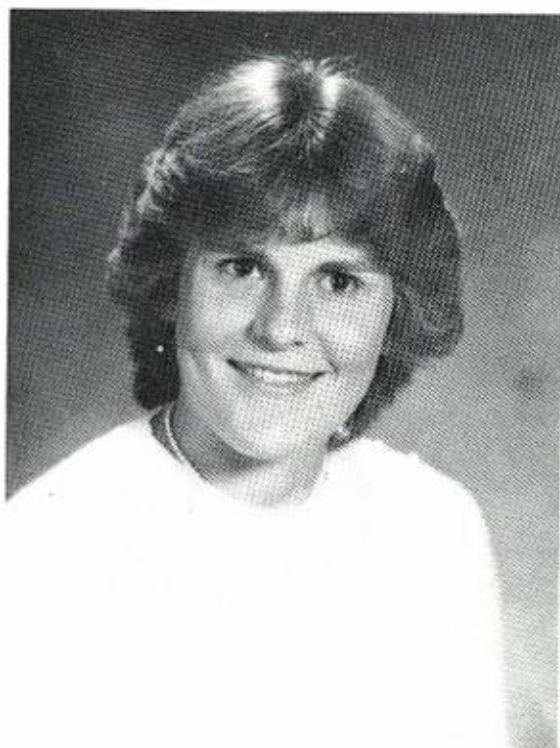

Another new club at Warren this year is FHA, Future Homemakers of America. Meeting during seventh period on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, this year's eight charter members crafted Blue Devil spirit pillows to encourage school spirit, help FHA gain school recognition, and raise money for initiation dues in the national FHA organization. The group raised additional funds by selling baked goods in the school cafeteria. Other activities included writing their constitution, babysitting for faculty children at Christmas, and making plans to participate in FHA competitions.

Adviser Mrs. Mary Dietz described the purpose of FHA as "helping youth assume their role in society through home economics educations." FHA is open to all students who have taken a home economics course at Warren.

In This World

It was all around us in 1984-85—the tragedy, the hopelessness, the scattering of blood, the spread of flame. On the national outlook, top stories involved politics. Included was the landslide created by, again, President Ronald Reagan, in the fight for the nomination with Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro—the first woman to run for vice-president. Searching for pain, you'd come across the African starvation crisis—mainly involving Ethiopia. It also was the year of death—the assassination of Indira Gandhi, the shooting spree in the San Ysidro, Calif., McDonald's that killed 21, and the Carbide chemical leak in Bhopal, India, killing 1600. Among the perils, there was hope to save. Baby Fae was granted a baboon's heart, only to spark controversy and her death, and there was study and implants of artificial hearts, the Lottery continued to provide millions, the Olympic wins, the Bears' claw and the Cubs' extended arm. 1984-85 was the year to hurt, yet fighting the pain and hoping for a better tomorrow was the key.

Cindery Cries

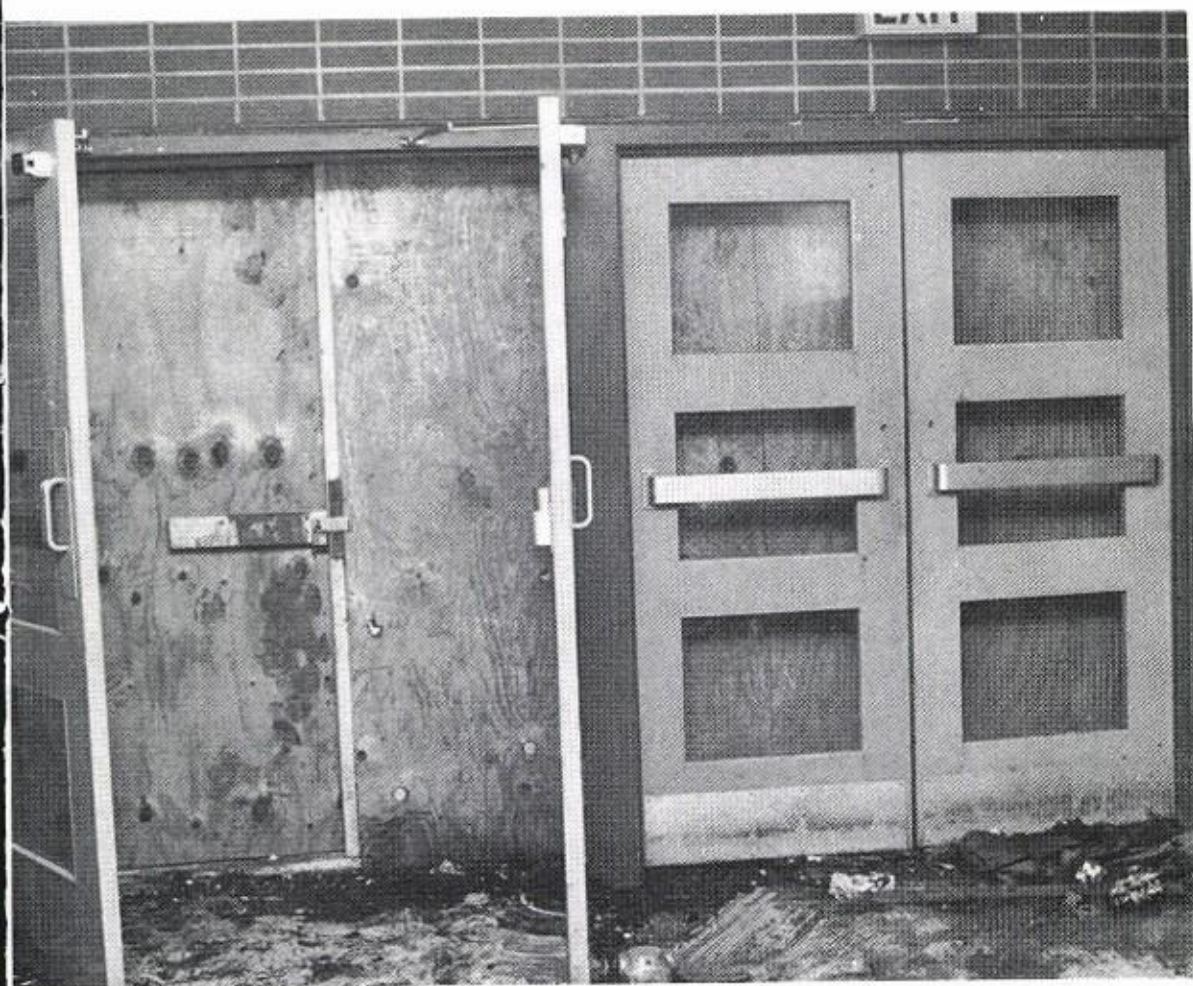

The standard black and white school clocks stuck out like a sore thumb. Some were smoke-stained, some clouded with film caused by the fire extinguishers and some splintered with the roof once above. The time on each of the clocks stated 12:09 and 33 fast seconds. The fury of the fire had turned the sky crimson and our lives upside down. Not any of the wildest dreams or despaired prayers envisioned flames invading halls—twisting and wringing the life out of wooden banisters, erasing words out of soon-to-be charred books, and gracefully melting lockers. The skeleton of Warren shivered as her insides were pained by arson. December 20th, after an earlier fire alarm was answered and the fire extinguished, firemen battled the second blaze for hours, a fire that left Warren with no second floor and 21 rooms sabotaged. The whole school suffered an estimated $10 million due to smoke and water damages. The hopeless students felt rage and resentment, yet the tragedy even struck teachers, the community—and even those who didn't know the town of Gurnee or the Blue Devils. It would never be the same.

How it used to be. How it will never be. Most of these pictures are of the now charred, now destroyed, now non-existing second floor of Warren Township High.

Perhaps one can look at "the fire" as a reason for a new building—much better than the so-called 'tinderbox'. Well, the 'tinderbox' was a school to the students who yelled through its halls, ate in its cafeteria, squealed through its parking lot, decorated its lockers, and cheered in its gym. To only look at the building—you don't have Warren. To look into 1,500 pairs of eyes—you will find Warren. To look into the plans of teachers, administration, secretaries, etc—you will see Warren.

The relocation to Lake Forest North was rough on most, yet the compassion and love we felt toward each other helped overcome the cool feeling the Lake Forest building gave. We were headed for some changes that we had to endure—and survive thorough.

Wham, Bam,-bettes!

The coming of the successful 1984-85 Basketball season brought with it a group of admirable guys—the 1984-85 Warren Bambettes!

This elite squad of young men strutted onto the court with super style—doing satirical Devilette routines. Their mode of dance and dress made them quite unique.

Captain Dino 'Bambina' Cordura led his group of graceful males consisting of Bryan Nelson, Bob 'Roberta' Lachman, Rico 'Ricita' Cordura, Don 'Chi Chi' DeGrazia, Brian Lachman and Ben 'Benita' Kibbe.

The Bambettes sparked spirit and much applause at the Basketball Pep Assembly and even got a standing ovation at the Warren vs. Antioch game.

Hopefully, this new tradition will be kept up—to enhance the spirit at games and to add a little different look of legs in a skirt (or were those towels?)

Whew! They Did It!

The Staff: who suffered "no-goes", strange proofs, pictures that never came in, layouts too bizarre, copy too long and copy too short. Who scrambled amidst the fire, had lazy and confused states and who learned about responsibility in the hardest way. The Staff: who pulled through, had incredible creative ideas, devoted much time and effort, learned to laugh at trifling mistakes, grinned at pictures, took the pictures, promised the best yearbook, who succeeded and who made their move.

Many thanks and appreciation goes to the members of the homeroom and to the class of Publication Production, whose efficient effort and eager help got the ball in action again. Special acknowledgement goes to Ray Gilgenbach and to our publishing company—ICP—who made our inspirations come alive. Also, a colossal "thank you" to Root Photographers, whose pictures helped in capturing so much. Without any one person, this yearbook wouldn't be.

And to Mr. Bill "Bodycopy" Chapin—an original "Tough Noogies" t-shirt—because he was unstoppable and his drive, crazy spirit, eager-beaver behavior, threats and belief in the Staff, homeroom and Publications class, acted as the real accomplishment.

You've created quite a memory—be so proud.

Just sitting here at my trusty typewriter gives me a feeling of such power. You probably are laughing and will say, "Laura, you sure get your kicks in some odd ways!" SURPRISE! You are most likely right. Sunsets, babies, puppies, playing in the rain, the color PINK, driving fast, having the wind twist my hair, feeling cool sand, being friends, talking, singing, living. Really, all of these things—plus many more—give me my kicks. They take me away from the pain and loneliness I sometimes feel—feelings we all share. I admit it, I play the game—the game of being yourself and someone else—just to survive. School is the breeding place of actors. It's so easy! Have you ever wanted to cry, but spoke bad of someone because you'd look like a broken-hearted dingbat? Have you ever wanted to run down to the field or floor when a player missed the ball—just for a little glory? Have you ever wondered why an opinion paper is graded on the teacher's opinion? Have you thought about who you are? Where you're going? Who's going with you or who's staying behind? Will they always be there? Will I be alone?

It's your turn to make your move—FOR YOU. Too many smiles aren't there when the light isn't shining in their eyes. Too many hands are quickly snatched away when a 'real' problem arises. Today, I want you to go up to someone you love, or just like (could be mom, dad, kid brat, grandma, neighbor, and of course, a friend) and tell them something so off the wall, like, "You know, without you, the sky wouldn't be blue. I love you." I would. O.K. You don't need poetic devices or corniness (give me a break—it just popped into my head), but you do need sincerity. Giving an occasional ego boost is great for the mind, body, and soul—but DON'T skip a day! Cuz—CRASH!—there it goes—the feeling! Make your move and make it now. Play this game of life—"GO OUT THERE AND GET 'EM, BABE!"

*Love ya!
Laura*
